The soul of a dog

I entered the church on a Christmas morn and heard a sermon grand

The preacher's text was a question that had puzzled all the land

"What is the soul" the preacher asked in accents loud and clear

*And paused a silent moment
so that all might hear*

"To find the answer we must look to the great God above

Because the soul comprises his greatest gifts

fidelity and love"

I left the church in deepest thought and on my homeward way

I saw a beggar and his dog and I heard the beggar say

"This dog has been my faithful friend" fidelity thought I

"and we shall love each other until he or I shall die"

Report on a European specialty for Schipperkes

by Marj Kuyt

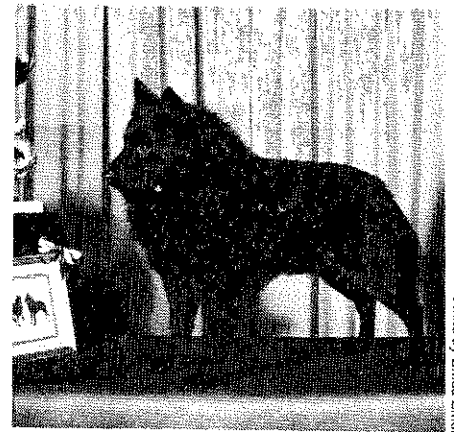

I RECENTLY had the unique experience of showing one of my dogs at a European specialty show. The Royal Belgian Schipperke Club celebrated their 100th anniversary with a show and obedience/agility display on July 10th and a symposium the next day, at a park called Bokrijk, near Hasselt, Belgium. The show was held on short grass near some old Belgian farm buildings, and the symposium a bit further on at the banquet-hall/restaurant in the park.

That Sunday was a very hot day which together with jet-lag prevented me from being alert enough to notice just how the show was run, but I did see some major differences in the actual showing.

Firstly, there was no frantic preparation before ring time; no mad brushing, backcombing, fluffing or spraying. The dogs went in 'as is,' many with their ordinary leather collars and leashes. No pretense of having more coat or more ruff — the majority were out of coat anyway — a natural occurrence in mid-July!

Secondly, NO dog was 'handled,' i.e. stacked, propped, made to stand in an unnatural stance, either on the ground or on the table. The table was for examination only. The only thing the 'handler' did was pick the dog up and put him on the table, where he was immediately, thoroughly examined by the judge who made comments as he did so which were written down by his assistant. (This written critique is later signed by the judge and given to the exhibitor.) The dog is then put down on the ground to stand naturally — again NO hands on, and then gaited up and down. The whole class was moved around the ring a couple of times and then lined up again. At that time, suddenly, the friends or relatives at the ringside facing the dogs do their best to get the dogs' attention (here we call it double handling) with calls, squeakers and car keys. The judge then waits for the ring steward to position the four place numbers with their trophies in the middle of the ring and then places his winners, starting with fourth, with a handshake for each. There were no ribbons.

All the males were judged by Mr. Deschuijmere from Belgium and all the females by Mrs. Fumagali, Switzerland, with the first judge doing the final judging of CAC or Best of Breed and Reserve

Ch. Roetmop Yeoman placed RCAC.

CAC (I haven't yet found what exactly CAC stands for). As well as the placings, the dogs were also given an official rating, from Fair to Excellent, so it is possible for a dog to be rated excellent but not place. My dog, Ch. Roetmop Yeoman, was rated Excellent and placed RCAC. The entry was 120 Schipperkes. The dog that beat mine was a lovely French male.

I knew the dogs would differ from ours in bone and coat, so was not too surprised. What did surprise me, however, were several wavy and even curly coats which I've never seen before in all my 30 years in the breed.

In general, the dogs were leggier and/or shorter-bodied than most of ours, as well as finer in bone as well as in facial features. I saw no over-angulated dogs, rather the opposite, and mostly good straight pasterns and neat little feet. There were also some very tiny Schipperkes, since they show them in two sizes, ours being their larger size, 6-8 kilos. The little ones seemed too 'toyish' to me.

The overall impression I got was of a lot of Schip owners and their dogs enjoying a nice day out, showing off their beloved dogs and chatting with other owners. No grooming tables, no 'exercise' pens or crates, practically no barking except in play occasionally, no aggressive behaviour except for one American dog. Just a lot of good fellowship separated only here and there by different languages, although most people there spoke more than one language, and a few four or five. I had a great time!
