

presented by the switch foundry

april 22 - may 1 butchershop gallery

a show about ~~robots~~

✓
cliches

ABOUT the SHOW

<http://www.sfu.ca/capture>

a display of works by a group of performance and new media arts students.

Capture is a fusion of electronics and arts. It is a collaborative environment that builds on the changing relationship of man and technology, realized through sculpture, video, sound, robotics and interactive technologies.

april 22 - may 1

opening gala april 22.

ABOUT the ARTISTS

Nathan Charley, Lisa El-Hinn, Abe Han, Jahzel Hintay, Wendy Huang, Thomas Johnson, Judy Lei, Joanna Li, J.Y. Lum, Robert Mackie, Paul Sheldrake, Chris Tong, Cathy Wang & Viviah Yang

The switch foundry is a group of 4th year students from SIAT (School of Interactive Arts and Technology) SFU, who study performance and media arts. We are programmers, storytellers, sculptors, sound designers, and futurists. We are interactive artists. We explore technology, culture, bodies, narrative, and even the internet! The Switch Foundry has worked together collaboratively in various configurations for the past 4 years on immersive, interactive, real and virtual spaces/objects/systems.

curated by Diana Burgoyne
& Gilly Mah

the switch foundry

ABOUT the PLACE

the butchershop gallery

192 E26 st.
(main + 26st)

604-876-9408

The butchershop floor is a place of crossroads where people working in a wide range of disciplines intersect.

Our Mission is to create a network of diverse and driven people who frequent the butchershop floor to collaborate on creative ventures. The common interests of these people have dictated the direction and goals of the butchershop. Together we support each other's strengths and individual achievements to challenge and better our artistic practices. By doing so we come to consensus and by cataloguing how we have spent our time we can help create a perceived recognition of value in each individual.

<http://www.butchershop.ca>

MORE Thursday April 21st pre-opening show

Waveform + CUBO

Waveform is the monthly Butchershop night / experimental audio showcase. Some artists from the Switch Foundry will be presenting CUBO.

CUBO is an intuitive instrument intended for a range of audiences which offers a different way to construct, visualize, and learn about music. Melodies are built in physical space with physical playing pieces, and these arrangements are analyzed and outputted electronically.

CUBO is created by some artists from the Capture show. Abe Han, Nathan Charley, Ben Hulse, Patrick Garcia, Marco Vincenzi