Fighting digital amnesia people, and systems. It will take policy, institutional commitment up to all of us to make an at best practices in other this challenge, and looking research on solutions to The SFU Archives is migrated. Without a plan and resources to preserve electronic and software, they must be regularly backed up, refreshed, and ephemeral. To remain accessible with ever-changing hardware form are now created electronically. But digital records are Many records that were once created on paper or in analog write about SFU for our 100th anniversary? sources will be available to a researcher in 2065 who wants to newspaper, letters, oral histories and photographs. What happened? really happened?

The answer is in the Archives...for now.

What really happened? The answer is in the Archives...for now.

A voice for calm...or martyrs?

The answer is in the Archives...for now.

What really happened? The answer is in the Archives...for now.

The answer is in the Archives...for now.

The answer is in the Archives...for now.