TUTOR NEEDED FOR GRADE 9 STUDENT WITH A LEARNING DISABILITY

(“Q” designation. No behavioural issues)

Our daughter is a hard working bubbly student whom is going to need ongoing tutoring for grade 9 and throughout her high school years. She will be attending Terry Fox High School in Port Coquitlam. We would like to find someone whom can commit to this upcoming school year 2019 - 2020 to help her. As per our psychologists recommendations we would like to have a tutor assist her twice a week.

Our daughter has a few challenges. Her biggest obstacle is her ability to process verbal instructions. Unfortunately for her, all school subjects require a student to be able to listen, understand and follow multi step verbal instructions. Two other areas of difficulty are working memory and being able to understand things that require the ability to interpret and use reasoning. She is strong in her ability to understand concrete things that usually have a right or wrong answer. Her weakness is being able to do things that require inference (like reading between the lines). She will need help with some subjects more than others.

A strength for our daughter is her work ethic and outgoing nature. She has been a very hard working student her whole life. We want to help her as much as we can so she has a successful and positive upcoming academic year.

If you or someone you know may be interested please contact us. We would like to have a tutor in place by the beginning of September.
