What is Agrology?

Agrology is a broad multidisciplinary field that encompasses the natural, economic and social sciences as related to the practice and understanding of agriculture and natural sciences.

Professional Agrologists come from diverse fields such as agriculture business, animal science, food science, soil science, resource science and environmental science.

Questions may be sent to bcia-scholarships@email.bcia.com

Submit the complete Scholarship Application Package (including official transcripts) no later than October 15, 2018

MAIL to:
BC Institute of Agrologists
BCIA Scholarships
2777 Claude Road,
Victoria, BC V9B 3T7

Please do not submit your scholarship application by email.

BC Institute of Agrologists Scholarships
Deadline Oct. 15, 2018
Who are Agrologists?

Agrologists are leaders in environmental sustainability, are involved in the regulating and safeguarding of food production and processing, provide business information and services based on their knowledge of resource economics.

What is the BC Institute of Agrologists?

The BCIA is a regulatory body that upholds a strict code of ethics among agrologists, as well as providing accreditation, professional development, and networking opportunities.

What are the BCIA Scholarships?

To support future agrologists in achieving their career in agrology, the BC Institute of Agrologists will award up to two $1500 scholarships to successful candidates.

Eligible applicants must complete an application, provide official transcripts and include a 300 to 500 word essay on the topic “What is Agrology in British Columbia?” The essay should demonstrate an understanding of agrology in the province of BC and provide support for the ideas expressed.

What are the BCIA Scholarship Application Eligibility Criteria?

Scholarship applicants must be:

- enrolled in a degree program in a recognized British Columbia post-secondary institute
- enrolled in 3rd or 4th undergraduate degree program or a post-graduate (Masters) program
- full-time or part-time (no fewer than 2 courses)
- enrolled in a program of study related to agrology
- a student member or member of BCIA (Complete student member application at https://www.bcia.com/members/student-membership)
- Canadian or permanent resident of Canada
- B+ average academic achievement in previous 2 years (minimum of 15 courses) of post-secondary degree studies

The deadline for applications is October 15, 2018.

The BCIA Communications Committee will review eligible applications based on the essay submission. The scholarships will be awarded by Dec. 1, 2018.

Application form is available on the BCIA website at www.bcia.com/about-bcia/scholarships-and-awards
Questions may be sent to bcia-scholarships@email.bcia.com