Office: AQ 5104B
Office hours: TBA
Lecture: Tuesdays 13:30 - 17:20; AQ 4130

Course Description:
This course provides students with an overview of the interlocking nature of race, class and gender relations at the micro- and macro-levels of society. It explores a number of themes in the analysis of race, class, gender relations, and sexuality in contemporary industrial societies. Using feminist and anti-racist perspectives, the course examines how race is mediated through other forms of social difference such as gender, class, sexuality, dis/ability and age. Through a wide range of readings, this course aims to cover the following:

- Analyze and illustrate theoretical frameworks in the study of race, gender, and class relations;
- Explain and demonstrate an understanding of how race, class, and gender intersect with other categories of social experience such as sexuality, nationality, ethnicity, dis/ability, religion, and age;
- Examine social inequality through theorizing anti-racism and comprehend the impact of social division and oppression on multiple level;
- Show an exercise how to break the cycles of oppression of various disadvantaged groups;
- Demonstrate the role of advocacy groups, grassroots organizations, and coalition building.

Educational Goals:
I Demonstrate Advanced knowledge of core concepts and theories.
II Develop transferable professional skills.
