Graduate Program in Linguistics
AT SIMON FRASER UNIVERSITY

Located in beautiful Vancouver, British Columbia, SFU Linguistics offers a rich environment of diverse theoretical and methodological approaches to the study of language.

Faculty

John Alderete, Associate Professor
University of Massachusetts, Amherst
Morphology, Phonology, Cognitive Science, Psycholinguistics, Athapaskan

Cliff Burgess, Senior Lecturer
Simon Fraser University
Phonetics, Second Language Acquisition, Applied Linguistics

Ashley Farris-Trimble, Assistant Professor
Indiana University
Phonology, Language Acquisition, Psycholinguistics, Laboratory Phonology

Donna B. Gerds, Professor
University of California, San Diego
Syntax, Morphology, Typology and Universals, First Nations Languages

Chung-hye Han, Professor
University of Pennsylvania
Syntax, Semantics, TAG, Korean, Japanese

Nancy Hedberg, Professor
University of Minnesota
Pragmatics, Syntax, Semantics, Cognitive Science

Trude Heift, Professor
Simon Fraser University
CALL, Applied Linguistics, Computational Linguistics

Suzanne K. Hilgendorf, Associate Professor
University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign
Sociolinguistics, L2 Acquisition, Foreign Language Pedagogy, German

Marianne Ignace, Professor
Simon Fraser University
First Nations Narrative and Oral History, Ethnoecology, Aboriginal Peoples and Languages of Northwestern North America

Dean Mellow, Associate Professor
University of British Columbia
Acquisition, Applied Linguistics, First Nations Languages

Keir Moulton, Assistant Professor
University of Massachusetts, Amherst
Syntax, Semantics, Experimental Syntax-Semantics

Murray Munro, Professor
University of Alberta
Phonetics, Second Language Acquisition, ESL Pedagogy

Panayiotis Pappas, Associate Professor
Ohio State University
Language Variation and Change, Syntax, Morphology, Greek

Thomas Perry, Associate Professor
Indiana University
Phonology, Formal Analysis, Language Policy

Maite Taboada, Professor
Universidad Complutense de Madrid
Discourse, Syntax, Computational Linguistics, Spanish

Yue Wang, Associate Professor
Cornell University
Phonetics, L2 Acquisition, Neurolinguistics, Cognitive Science, Chinese

Graduate students in our program engage in challenging coursework and pursue unique research opportunities while working toward either an MA or a PhD degree.