Ling322 RPS information

Class participation (5%)

Students are expected to participate in lectures by asking questions, answering questions, and collaborating on in-class activities. Students may also earn class participation points by participating in a sanctioned research project within the Department of Linguistics, at one point per project session. You can find a list of available sanctioned projects as well as an explanation of procedures at http://www.sfu.ca/linguistics/research/Research_Participation_System.html.
