Incident:
A flip-top table was put into the vertical position for storage (see photograph on the right). The casters (wheels) on the table legs were locked.

Moving the table in the upright or flipped-up position with the casters locked caused the table to become overbalanced and to tip over. The table fell on an employee’s foot, causing a fracture.

Recommendations
• When table is in the vertical position, unlock the casters prior to moving the table.