STUDENT SUPPORT RESOURCES

Equipping SFU students with knowledge, skills, and experiences that prepare them for life in an ever-changing and challenging world is central to SFU’s strategic vision. This quick reference list of some frequently used SFU resources for students is intended to help you support your students during the course of their studies, so that they can succeed and thrive.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

778.782.9456 aigco@sfu.ca sfu.ca/students/academicintegrity

Academic integrity is required of all members of the university. Instructors are encouraged to review this website and consult with their departmental advisors for strategies to promote and support academic integrity.

CENTRE FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES (CSD)

778.782.3112 csdo@sfu.ca sfu.ca/students/disabilityaccess

The CSD facilitates accessible learning for students with formally diagnosed disabilities, reviews disability documentation, authorizes academic accommodations, and acts as a liaison to implement disability related services.

HEALTH & COUNSELLING (HCS)

Burnaby: 778.782.4615  Vancouver: 778.782.5200
Surrey: 778.782.5200  sfu.ca/students/health

The team of doctors, nurses, counsellors, psychiatrists, & health promotion specialists collectively and positively influence student health & well-being. Faculty/staff can contact HCS for advice in supporting a student in distress or to access resources to support positive well-being. Doctor & counselling appointments available in Burnaby and Vancouver. Counselling available by appointment in Surrey.

MY SSP (STUDENT SUPPORT PROGRAM)

My SSP 1.844.451.9700  Outside North America call 001.416.380.6578
sfu.ca/students/health/support/mental-health/my-ssp

My SSP is available 24/7, via app or phone, to all SFU students (graduate, undergraduate and post-doc). Students can access immediate and ongoing, confidential mental health and well-being support. Available in multiple languages from North America or abroad.
The HRO handles complaints from students, staff, and faculty under SFU’s human rights policy which prohibits discrimination and harassment.

The ISC is a welcoming gathering space that provides holistic student support and services to Indigenous students.

The Ombudsperson is an independent, impartial and confidential resource for students. Provides information and guidance on students’ rights and responsibilities in relation to SFU policies and practices.

The SRS team responds to incidents involving safety and risk and supports individuals impacted by incidents that affect their safety or wellbeing.

The SVSPO offers confidential support, advice and referrals to students, staff and faculty who have been impacted by sexual violence and misconduct. Provides outreach and educational services to the university community.

The SLC offers expert and friendly help with academic writing, learning, and study strategies in an environment of collaboration, discussion, and peer learning.