Pre-Doctoral Fellowships for Indigenous Students

The Faculty of Arts and Science at Queen’s University is pleased to invite applications for one-year Pre-Doctoral Fellowships for Indigenous Students.

The Fellowships are open to Indigenous students enrolled in a PhD program and working on doctoral research in Arts or Science at an accredited university other than Queen’s University.

Candidates must have completed all degree requirements except the final doctoral project (e.g. dissertation) and will be expected to complete their doctoral work during the Fellowship.
