DEAN, FACULTY OF APPLIED SCIENCES

Established in 1965, Simon Fraser University (SFU) is one of Canada’s leading comprehensive universities. With vibrant campuses in British Columbia’s largest municipalities, including Vancouver, Burnaby and Surrey, SFU has become the university of choice for students seeking academic excellence and diversity of experience. The University has approximately 35,000 students, 2,700 faculty and staff, and 130,000 alumni, maintaining deep roots with partner communities throughout the province and around the globe.

The Faculty of Applied Sciences is shaping tomorrow’s technology leaders in computing science and engineering by offering challenging areas of study complemented by unique learning experiences to foster a spirit of innovation and entrepreneurship, professional growth and leadership ability. With more than 2,000 undergraduate and 400 graduate students, the Faculty is comprised of three Schools; Computing Science, Engineering Sciences and Mechatronic Systems Engineering, each demonstrating a strong focus on technology-based innovation.

Reporting to the Vice-President, Academic and Provost as part of SFU’s senior administration, the Dean is the senior officer of the Faculty and is responsible for all aspects of its operation. He/she will have an exemplary academic record, strong achievements in research, teaching, scholarly activities and service and will encourage and promote academic excellence and research productivity across disciplines. The new Dean will have a PhD and a strong record of achievement in administration and will have outstanding interpersonal skills that will engage faculty, staff, students and external communities in the continued growth of the Faculty and its emergence as a leader in Applied Sciences in Canada. The ability to advocate for the Faculty externally to the business and industrial communities is critical for success.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply, however Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. Simon Fraser University is committed to employment equity and encourages applications from all qualified women and men, including visible minorities, Aboriginal people, and persons with disabilities.
