

Ph.D. Position in Geochemical Modelling of CO₂ Storage

Applicants with an interest in geochemistry are being sought to conduct research in the field of CO₂-water-rock interactions in a collaborative environment with research groups in Australia. The project combines design and implementation of laboratory experiments with development of numerical model simulations of natural analogue, laboratory and carbon storage systems.

Contact: Dr. Dirk Kirste (dkirste@sfu.ca).

For more info on the Groundwater Resources Research Group (GRRG) at SFU Earth Sciences, please visit: <http://www.sfu.ca/grrg/>

Department of Earth Sciences at Simon Fraser University, Vancouver, Canada.