

Bridget Keating is a sessional lecturer at First Nations University of Canada (FNUniv). She holds a Master of Arts (Interdisciplinary) from the University of Regina. Her research areas include historical and contemporary constructions of Indigenous women in media and visual culture. Presently, she is researching mythologies relating to La Malinche in Mexican culture and the work of Lorena Wolffer whose performance art responds to sexual violence and femicide.