

Skeena Reece is 33 years old. Coming from the Tsimshian Territory, born of Metis/Cree and Tsimshian/Gitksan descent she has been working in the arts since 1996. Now, her multi-disciplinary practice includes: performance art, spoken word, humour, “sacred clowning,” writing, singing, songwriting, video art and arts administration. She travels well, packs lunch good and would be your pick to be ‘stranded on a deserted island’ with. Currently, she is a Board Member of the Native Youth Media Society (Redwire Magazine) and past Director of the Indigenous Media Arts Group (2005 - 2007). Also, she is the Founder of the Native Youth Artists Collective, which aims to incorporate in 2008. She was the Co-Director and Principle Actor of “Homestay” the movie in 2007 and is set to release her first self-produced music album.
