

Adrienne Shadd

Knowledge Production and the Black Experience in Canada

Adrienne Shadd will discuss her work as a curator and consultant on African Canadian history in the public history sector. She will look at the state of affairs of public history in Ontario as it relates to Black Canada, and how she navigates this terrain as a Black historian in the field. She will also attempt to assess the prospects for the field in the future.