

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

President:

Prof Gary Andrews, Australia

Secretary General

Prof Mary Luszcz, Australia

Treasurer:

Mr Charles Young, Australia

President Elect:

Dr Gloria Gutman, Canada

Past President:

Prof Edit Beregi, Hungary

COMMUNICATIONS

Website:

www.cas.flinders.edu.au/iag

F-mail:

IAG@flinders.edu.au

Telephone:

+61 8 8201 7552

Facsimile:

+61 8 8201 7551

Postal Address:

Centre for Ageing Studies, Flinders University of South Australia, Laffer Drive, Science Park, Bedford Park, South Australia 5042 Australia

IN THIS ISSUE

From the President	1
From the Secretary General	2
From Our Members	3
IAG Operational Matters	4
Wrapping up the 16th Congress	5
Research Awards	6
IAG Congress Calendar	8

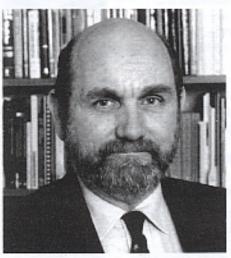

NTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF GERONTOLOGY

Centre for Ageing Studies, Flinders University of South Australia Laffer Drive, Science Park, Bedford Park, South Australia

VOLUME 2

NEWSLETTER

OCTOBER 1998

President of IAG, Prof Gary Andrews

FROM THE PRESIDENT

As the advent of the 1999 International Year of Older Persons (IYOP-99) approaches there is a growing level of anticipation and activity in the world of gerontology. Over the past few months as President of the IAG I have had the opportunity for involvement in a number of events associated with preparation for the Year.

In Lusanne, Switzerland during May I participated in a multidisciplinary workshop on the production of a consensus statement on Teaching and Training in Old Age Psychiatry'. This workshop under the able leadership of Professor Jean Wertheimer was sponsored by the World Psychiatric Association (Geriatric Psychiatry Section) and the World Health The consensus Organization. statement is the third in a series on the psychiatry of old age and will be published and distributed by the World Health Organization in the near future.

I then went on to take part in the 3rd International Congress of the International Council for Global Health Progress held in Paris. This meeting titled 'Worldwide Revolution in Longevity and Quality of Life: Opportunities, Challenges and Responses' was convened jointly by Clause Jasmin, President of the International Council for Global Progress and Robert Butler, President International Longevity Center (USA). The meeting was held with the support of the European Commission in collaboration with UNESCO. The meeting ranged widely over many critical issues related to aging and more than 40 excellent invited presentations were made. Proceedings of this first class conference will be published.

I was then in Beijing, China representing the IAG at the 'Regional Workshop on Preparations for the International Year of Older Persons' organised by the Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (ESCAP). This productive gathering produced a Plan of Action on Ageing for Asia and the Pacific that will be presented to a further Regional intergovernmental meeting to be held later this year in Macau.

On the way from Paris to Beijing I had the opportunity of stopping in Copenhagen for a brief but very enjoyable and informative visit to the Danish Institute of Gerontology. The Institute is an initiative of the Danish Gerontological Society and provides an extensive clearing house function 'systematically gathering and disseminating knowledge on research, experiment and development, which may provide some of the answers to questions about the elderly and their conditions'. The clearing house can be accessed on the WEB. I think this Danish initiative is a very good example of what individual national gerontological societies can achieve with the enthusiasm and dedication of their leadership.

In June 1 attended the first international program planning meeting for the Rural Aging Project 1997-2001. This important activity is one of the UN linked projects for the 1999 International Year of Older Persons and includes a major international meeting to be held in West Virginia USA in 2000. The IAG is a formal partner in this exercise.

As I write this I am located in New York for a 12-month appointment with the UN Programme on Ageing as Special Advisor on Ageing to the United Nations. My primary responsibilities concern the coordination of a range of professional, research and policy activities in relation to the International Year of Older Persons. One of the earliest tasks I will be involved in is the project aimed at 'Development of a Research Agenda on Ageing for the Twenty First Century'. This exciting venture represents a collaborative effort involving IAG, the Novartis Foundation for Gerontological Research and the UN Programme on Ageing. The foundations for this collaboration were laid down during the Adelaide World Congress of Gerontology and commitment to the undertaking was expressed in the Adelaide Declaration on Ageing. This exercise will extend over a three-year period following the first expert consultative meeting to be held in Vienna in early February. The priority areas identified at that meeting will be followed up in more depth in a series of activities during the subsequent 18 months to two years after which a second expert consultation will review the reports made during this time. A definitive report will be submitted to the UN General Assembly and the Agenda will be 'launched' at a major event held in New York at UN Headquarters early in 2001.

After arriving in New York, I was able to attend the regional meeting of Help Age International (HAI) held in Singapore in early September. This event bought together representatives of all of the HAI affiliates throughout the Region to discuss opportunities for networking and to review their possible contributions to preparations for and celebration of IYOP — 99. Finally, I attended a closed meeting of the Presidents of the European National Societies of Gerontology and Geriatrics. This meeting convened by Mario Passeri, Chair of the IAG European Region focussed particularly on developments in teaching of gerontology and geriatrics in the European Region. It was an excellent opportunity for networking between the European associations.

As The International Year of Older Persons gets closer there will be many opportunities involvement in both the preparations for, and celebration of, The Year globally, IAG regionally and through national member associations. I strongly urge the IAG family to contribute in every way possible to this rare opportunity to promote the cause of gerontology worldwide.

FROM THE SECRETARY GENERAL:

Mary Luszcz Secretary General

Congratulations Gary

As just reported, Professor Gary Andrews, IAG President will be in a special position to promote the aims of the IAG during 1999. His appointment to the UN is clear recognition of his past contributions and continuing commitment to gerontology in its broadest sense. Congratulations have come from Council members and organisations around the world and your well wishes are gratefully acknowledged.

Prospective members

The Secretariat has received three new requests to join the IAG. One was for an individual membership, from Mr. Leonid Semenovich Burmin of Bischzek City, Republic Kievskaya, Kyrgyzstan, and one each from the Philippines and Thailand. Mr Burmin had been active in the now dissolved Kyrgystan Republic's Gerontology Association, which is likely to be restored in some form in the future. The Secretariat has encouraged him and his colleagues to reform such an organisation, preferably between now and the next IAG World Congress in 2001. In the interim, the Executive Committee of the IAG recommended that he be given status as a corresponding member of the IAG until such time as a national association is re-formed in the Krygyz Republic.

Applications from the Thai Society of Gerontology and Geriatric Medicine and the Philippine College of Gerontology and Geriatrics have been received. We are awaiting some additional detailed material as called for in the By-laws before proceeding with the applications. A postal endorsement will be sought from Council Members in due course. Advice can be given to interested prospective members to review the requirements for membership in the IAG By-Laws on the web at <<www.cas.flinders.edu.au/iag>>.

Update on Gerontology

Professors Ladislas Robert (France) and M Powell-Lawton (USA) agreed to write papers based on their Novartis lectures given at the Adelaide World Congress for publication in Karger's Gerontology. Gerontology has a practice of publishing such lectures and may play another key role in conjunction with the initiative of IAG and the UN to develop a global research agenda for ageing, as referred to above. Gerontology may provide a forum for input from the broader ageing research community in response to the issues raised in the course of development of the global research agenda.

On July 6, 1998 I attended a meeting at Karger Publishers in Basel with co-editors of Gerontology Prof W Meier-Ruge (Basel), Dr J Andrews (Shepperton, UK), Dr M Ermini (Basel) and Production Manager, Mr Thomas Nold to discuss future directions for the journal and IAG's association with it. A broad range of issues was covered, including the aim and scope of Gerentology, expansion of the composition of Editorial Boards to include a behavioural and Social Sciences Section, and planning of Supplement issues. The meeting confirmed the continuing association of the IAG and Gerontology. As agreed at the last Council meeting, I continue as the Editor for the IAG.

A new and exciting development is the expansion of the scope of Gerontology to include a Behavioural Sciences Section. In the first instance, I have agreed to be section Editor. As has been conventional for the two existing sections, this new section will feature research, reviews, and debates. These will focus on the psychological and behavioural facets of human ageing. It will augment the ongoing Experimental Section and Clinical Section. Prospective members of the Editorial Board for the Behavioural Science Section are being recruited currently. Your suggestions of potential members of the board would be most welcome and will be seriously considered. An editorial describing the additional direction of Gerontology will be published in the last issue of 1998 or the first issue of 1999. Experimental, Clinical and Behavioural Researchers should consider this publication outlet. (Remember there is a link to Gerontology on our website, that includes details on submission of manuscripts.) As the new direction takes hold, we are especially interested to receive manscripts from behavioural scientists. Your assistance in spreading the word on this new direction will be most helpful.

FROM OUR MEMBERS

From the Georgian Society of Gerontology

Professor Nodar Knipshidze, President
D Torbenadze, Secretary General

A Short History

Georgia is a country of ancient civilisations. Sources of gerontological ideas and knowledge about aging go to the deepest periods of its history. Medical manuscripts of XI to XIV centuries, which have been retained until this day, represented the whole system of knowledge about aging and its diseases, about the prolongation of life, and age classification.

The interest of physicians and populations in problems of aging and longevity, the presence of scientists researching different aspects of gerontology, and the increasing ageing of the population promoted the organisation of a scientific-medical society of gerontology and geriatrics in Tbilisi in 1959. In 1965 it united regional societies which were functioning in different cities of Georgia: Tbilisi, Batumi, Sukhumi, Tskhinvali. To the present moment its organisational base is represented at the Institute of Therapy and its Centre of Gerontology and Geriatrics, in Tbilisi. Activities of the Society still remain vital as the percentage of the elderly in Georgia is increasing and the population is becoming more and more aged (aging index — 15.8%, 1993).

Since its inception, activities of the Society's scientific researchers have been carried out in three main areas of Serontology: Social Gerontology, Biogerontology and Geriatrics. Demography of aging and longevity, health status, life style, nutrition, organisation of medical and social care of the elderly were the focus of studies in Social and Behavioural gerontology. Geropsychological research has focused on the personality of the elderly, especially abnormal features of personality, which may lead to problems in social adaptation and be the cause of psychosomatic pathology. The problems of morphology, genetics and immunology of aging are studied in the field of Biogerontology. A considerable amount of scientific research is done in Geriatrics; for instance, peculiarities of pathogenesis, development and treatment of ischaemic heart diseases, hypertensive disease, diabetes, osteoporosis and other chronic pathologies of the elderly. A principal focus of attention has been on the phenomenon of longevity in Georgia, as it is one of the worldis epicentres of longevity.

The Georgian Society of Gerontology has initiated and organized many conferences and symposia throughout the country, and been an active participant of International Congresses in Gerontology. In 1985 the Society organised the WHO Regional Office for Europe working group meeting on prevention of health risk factors in old age. In 1988-1989 the Society carried out cross-cultural scientific research in social-psychological and medical aspects of old people in Georgian (Tbilisi), American (USA, Syracus) and Hungarian (Budapest) populations. In 1988 the Society organised the Georgian — Italian symposium of gerontology. In the 1990s the political and economic crisis in Georgia decreased the activity of the our society, but we hope, that its entrance in the IAG will be stimulus for restoration of its scientific and practical work.

From the Bulgarian Association on Ageing

Assoc Prof Ignat Petrov, President

The Bulgarian Association of Ageing (BAA) was founded in 1994 in Sofia. Historically it is the second gerontological society established in Bulgaria. It was preceded by the founding in 1970 of the Scientific Medical Society on Gerontology and Geriatrics as a branch of the Union of the Scientific Medical Societies. In the period of transition from totalitarianism toward democracy, which began in Bulgaria in November 1989, the activity of the Society became weak and irregular, resulting in formation of the new society. The bylaws of the BAA were approved by the General Assembly of its members in July 1994. The Association was registered by the Sofia City Court in June 1996.

The BAA is a non-profit association of 52 individual members. Approximately two thirds of them are gerontology and geriatrics professionals, the others are voluntary workers and socially active persons. Among the members there are psychologists, physicians, social workers, economists, lawyers, writers, painters and others. Many members of BAA continue to be at the same time members of the aforementioned Scientific Medical Society of Gerontology and Geriatrics, so that contact and exchange of information is ongoing. Our constituents are interested in the wide range of problems related to ageing, old age and the elderly. They work with a conviction and clear desire to assist in improving the health, vitality, psychological and social well-being, and the quality of life of senior citizens. In addition the BAA is concerned to promote family solidarity, the stimulation of independent and active ways of living, humane and positive attitudes towards the elderly, and the well-being of all citizens of all ages in this country. The Bulgarian Association on Ageing (BAA) carries out research in gerontology and geriatrics: it organises and/or encourages educational, teaching, diagnostic, therapeutic and consultative activities as well as rehabilitation, social work, charity, publicity, and creative work. It has regular sessions member every 1 or 2 months. In October 1994 a National Discussion — Round Table on the topic Active Life in Ageing: Psychosocial and Physical Rehabilitation was held in Svishtov. In June 1998 it convened a symposium on Gerontology and Geriatrics Today: Mental and Physical Health of the Elderly.

From the Gerontological Society of the Russian Academy of Sciences

Professor Vladimir Anisimov, President

Advance Notice of Meetings

From July 20 - 24, 1999 the First Russian Congress on Gerontology and Geriatrics will be held at Samara, on the Volga river. At the First European Congress of Biogerontology (Helsingor, Denmark, 28-31 August, 1998) it was provisionally agreed to organize the next congress in August 2000 in St.Petersburg. Circumstances permitting, this plan will eventuate.

From the Australian Association of Gerontology

Dr Anna L Howe, President

An Invitation to Return Down-under

In September 1999, the Australian Association of Gerontology (AAG) will be holding its Annual Conference in conjunction with Aged Care Australia (ACA), with the theme The Age of Celebration and Expectation. Aged Care Australia is Australia's largest national organisation representing aged care service providers in the not-forprofit sector and so is an ideal partner for the AAG with its professionally based membership. The President of ACA, Mr John Ireland, joins me in extending an invitation to you and members of your association to attend. This will be an outstanding event for the International Year of Older Persons, that will set directions for many years into the new century. To keep you up to date with conference developments, and you can also check our web site at www.cas.flinders.edu.au/aag. [Also see 'Congress Calendar' this newsletter, — Ed.]

AUSTRALIAN ASSOCIATION OF GERONTOLOGY SUPPORTS IAG

In recognition of the numerous contributions that Professor Gary Andrews has made to the AAG over many years, and with his move to the UN in New York, the Australian Association of Gerontology Council has taken a decision that will facilitate his continuing activities in Australia and the Asia Oceania Region over the next two years. The AAG will provide travel and related assistance to enable Professor Andrews to take an active part in the Asia Oceania Region throughout the International Year of Older People. This will include Professor Andrew's active participation in the AAG National Conference in 1998, the 1999 AAG/ACA Conference, and the IAG Regional Congress in Seoul. A large part of the success of the 1997 World Congress can be directly attributed to the well-established networks that Professor Andrews has worked so hard to build over the years. This decision by the AAG will help to maintain and build on that foundation

IAG OPERATIONAL MATTERS

Database

There has been a good response to the call for details of membership that went out with the IAG Newsletter in March. The database has been updated accordingly and a list of members is available on the IAG Website. The Secretariat would welcome amendments or corrections at any time. Only if our records are accurate can we effectively interact with council members and organisations.

IAG Dues

Thank you to the member organizations who have paid their membership dues. If you have not yet done so, please remit to the Secretariat as soon as possible.

The fee payable for 1998 is as agreed by council of the IAG in August 1997 and is US55 cents per registered member of your organisation.

If paying by ITT please ensure that the transfer document is identified as IAG Dues and clearly states the name of your organisation and country. Please forward a copy of the documentation to the IAG Secretariat.

If you require further information on dues, please don't hesitate to contact the Secretariat.

Charles N Young, Treasurer

WHAT'S HAPPENING?

To diversify the content of our newsletters, we'd like to hear from you! We would like to include in the IAG newsletter materials from our member organisations.

Do you have some exciting new findings that you would like to relay to members? news that you would like to share with the membership? a viewpoint you want to express in a letter to the Editor? a perspective that you would like others to comment on? a photo that captures a special event of your organisation? Enliven the newsletter by being part of it. Correspond with the Secretary General (and Editor) via the channels listed on the cover of the Newsletter.

It is anticipated that we will publish two newsletters annually. March and September — that's in the fall and spring or vice versa, depending on your hemisphere! To be timely, we can put items on the IAG Home Page, between issues.

If possible, we would like the first newsletter for 1999 to convey a sense of the major activities that member organisations will sponsor during the UN International Year of Older Persons (IYOP). So send a short note or email that we can include.

Visit the IAG Web site: www.cas.flinders.edu.au/iag

WRAPPING UP THE 16th IAG CONGRESS

Pursuant to decisions made at the August 1997 IAG Council Meeting in Adelaide, this edition of the newsletter contains a summary financial statement from the 16th World Congress Committee. This is the first time such information has been made available for an IAG Congress and amendment to the Manual of Operating Procedures (associated with IAG By-laws) will make it mandatory for such information to be made available for all future IAG World Congresses. In addition, the concept of a contribution to the IAG Secretariat from the proceeds (25% of net surplus) and the provision of a loan to the Organising Committee for the next congress was an initiative of the Adelaide Congress and will similarly be mandatory for future events.

The inter-Congress loan to assist in early stages of World Congress organising, was to be made contingent upon receipt of a Business Plan from the conference committee. The Business Plan for the 2001 World Congress was received and approved by the IAG Executive. Accordingly, the first inter-congress loan was made. The requisite funds ($USD30,000) from the surplus of the Adelaide Congress were transferred to the Vancouver Congress Committee in June. For a personal touch, the IAG President Gary Andrews hand-delivered the cheque to Gloria Gutman, the 17th Congress President, at a planning meeting for the UN's Rural Aging Project that they were both attending in West Virginia, USA.

1997 V	VORLD CONGRESS SUMMARY FINANCIAL
		USD$
INCOME	Delegate Payments	870,050
	Government Sponsorship	79,241
	Corporate Sponsors & grants	306,768
	Exhibition(s) Profit	77,490
	Other Income	38,911
Total income			1,372,461
EXPENDITURE	Non-site costs:
EAT ENDITORE	Central Costs	410,852
	International Video-Conference	99,897
	Associated Events incl. WHO/UN	57,033
	Proceedings	24,000		-
	Other payments incl. Refunds and interest on loans	48,072
	Total Non-Site Costs	639,853
	Event site costs:
	Adelaide	339,227
	Honolulu	39,496
	Singapore	57,398
	Total Site Costs	436,121
GRAND TOTAL EXPENDITURE			1,075,975
Gross Surplus				296,48
Disbursement of Surplus	25% Gross to IAG		74,100
	Payment to Singapore Gerontological Society		12,000
	Payment to Honolulu Research Fund		12,000
	USD$ 30,000 loan to 2001 Congress		30,000
	Payment to AAG (RM Gibson Research Fund)		168,386
TOTAL DISBURSEMENT				296,48
NOTES

All figures are given in USD$ at approx. median exchange rate for the period (1AUD = 0.6USD$).

The actual rate of exchange has fluctuated significantly throughout the period.

The formal liquidation of Congress Assets may result in minor variation in some of the final figures.

The loan to the 2001 Congress is repayable with interest to IAG for on-payment to the AAG (RM Gibson Research Fund)

ASSOCIATIONS PURSUING SIMILAR GOALS: RECOGNISING GERONTOLOGICAL RESEARCHERS

The IAG and the International Psychogeriatric (IPA) share a commitment to advancing knowledge of ageing on a worldwide basis. We have a reciprocal agreement to publicise the activities of each other's organisation. To this end, we have website links and from time to time announce meetings and prizes for each other. Both organisations award prizes every second year for outstanding research on ageing. Read on, and make a submission soon!

1999 — IAG/NOVARTIS PRIZE_FOR GERONTOLOGICAL RESEARCH

One of the aims of the Novartis Foundation for Gerontological Research, Basel, Switzerland, is encouraging and honoring achievement in gerontological research and geriatric medicine, including biological, medical, psychological, social and other relevant areas. One tangible mechanism for doing so is by awarding a biennial prize to individuals with an outstanding record of advancing gerontological knowledge. The prize of 50,000 Swiss frames is normally awarded to individuals or teams who have

- made a significant research contribution in a particular area of gerontology or geriatrics
- encouraged and trained younger research workers
- given impetus to progress in these fields in some other comparable way, for example through their publications.

Decisions will be made by a jury comprising four representatives of the IAG, two previous winners of the IAG/Novartis (formerly Sandoz) Prize and another distinguished gerontologist.

Recipients of the prize are funded to present their research at one of the IAG Regional Congresses and will also be invited to publish a paper based on it in Gamitology. Papers by the most recent recipients of the Novartis Prize awarded at the 16th IAG Congress in Adelaide, Professor Ladislas Robert and Professor M. Powell Lawton, will soon appear in Gerontology.

Applications and nominations for the prize close soon and must be submitted no later than 31 October 1998.

Information can be obtained from: Novartis Prize Secretary, Charles Studer, Novartis Foundation for Gerontological Research, CH-4002 Basel, Switzerland Fax:+41-61-324 4294 E-mail: charles.studer@pharma.novartis.com

EWALD W. BUSSE (M.D.) RESEARCH AWARDS

Promoting international research in gerontology, two Ewald W Busse MD Research Awards will be presented at the Pan American Congress of the IAG in San Antonio, Texas, February, 21-25 1999. These awards are supported from an endowment made by Gerontology International in honor of Edwald W Busse MD, past president of the International Association of Gerontology and founding director of the Duke Aging Center. This endowment is administered by the Duke University Center for the Study of Aging and Human Development.

Two junior or mid-career gerontologists will be selected. One award will recognize a scientist from the social/behavioral sciences and the other from the biomedical sciences.

Awards are for $U$4,000 each, with up to $U$3,000 provided for travel or living expenses at the conference. Awardees must present a lecture based on their research at the conference. Deadline for receipt of applications: November 1, 1998

1999 — IPA/BAYER RESEARCH AWARDS IN PSYCHOGERIATRICS

Researchers from around the world are invited to submit original, unpublished work for the 1999 IPA/Bayer Research Awards in Psychogeriatrics.

The awards, presented biennially, are given to encourage and reward important psychogeriatric research throughout the world. They have been sponsored since their inception in 1989 by Bayer AG and the International Psychogeriatric Association (IPA).

These prestigious awards carry cash prizes of 25.000 DM (first place), 15.000 DM (second place), and 10.000 DM (third place). The winners, who will be invited to present their papers at a special symposium at IPA's International Congress in Vancouver in August 1999, will receive a commemorative medallion and a travel and expense stipend to attend the Congress. The papers also will be published in IPA's quarterly journal, International Psychogeriatrics:

Entries must be written in English. The deadline for submission of papers is 1 December, 1998 and awards will be announced on 1 June 1999. To obtain complete instructions for submitting a paper, interested researchers should contact IPA, 550 Frontage Road, Suite 2820, Northfield, IL 60093 USA (tel: 1+847.784.1701, fax: 1+847.784.1705,

MEETINGS, MEETINGS! — 1999 IAG REGIONAL CONGRESSES

It has been a time of planning for IAG Regional Congresses that will be held during 1999 in Havana, Cuba; Berlin, Germany; and Seoul, Korea. San Antonio, Texas is the location for the second Pan-American Congress of the IAG. These meetings will take on special significance as the IYOP is celebrated. They promise to be extremely valuable as a way of disseminating the latest research findings and promoting networks on ageing around the world. Provisional programs look exciting and closing dates for abstracts for further papers are quickly approaching, so contact the respective secretariats for further details. (See 'Congress Calendar')

2001: 17th WORLD CONGRESS, VANCOUVER

Our next IAG Congress takes shape

Mark July 1-6, 2001 on your calendar for the

17th WORLD CONGRESS OF GERONTOLOGY

Vancouver British Columbia Canada

Prof.Gloria Gutman Congress President

The Organising Committee has laid the foundation for an outstanding World Congress in beautiful Vancouver in 2001. The opening ceremonies on July 1 will coincide with Canada's birthday, which is traditionally celebrated in Vancouver with a spectacular fireworks display over the harbour. The Vancouver Trade and Convention Centre, where the Congress will be held, is an ideal site from which to view it.

A range of hotel rooms, 5-star to budget, within easy walking distance of the Vancouver Trade and Convention Centre has been secured. Ample exhibit and presentation room space in the Convention Centre has also been secured.

The Organising Committee is currently focusing on arranging a first class scientific program, the most important aspect of any World Congress. The Chair of the Scientific Program Committee, Dr Andrew Wister and the President of the Congress Dr Gloria Gutman extend a cordial invitation to the member organisations of IAG to recommend to their Regional IAG Committees the names of potential plenary speakers, topics and organisers for invited symposia and roundtables as well as emerging issues that will be important to address. Traditionally, there are over 100 invited symposia and roundtables at the World Congress. These cover a broad range of topics in gerontology and geriatrics and bring together top experts from across the world to share the very latest and best information with Congress delegates.

All recommendations must be received by the Congress Secretariat by January 10 1999 for compiling into a list for consideration by the IAG Program Committee which will meet in conjunction with the Pan American IAG Regional Congress, February 21, 1999, in San Antonio, Texas. Developing the best possible list of plenary speakers, and invited symposia and roundtables is critical to the success of the 2001 World Congress. Be sure your country is well represented in Vancouver by sending your recommendations to your Regional Chair for inclusion in the San Antonio list.

For further information about World Congress 2001, contact the Secretariat, at: Gerontology Research Centre, Simon Fraser University at Harbour Centre 515 West Hastings Street, Vancouver, BC, Canada V6B 5K3 Tel: (604) 291-5062 Fax: (604) 291-5066Email: iag@sfu.ca Website: www.harbour.sfu.ca/iag/

INTERNATIONAL GERONTOLOGICAL MEETINGS

1999 APRIL 26 - 29

Asia-Pacific Regional Conference for the International Year of Older Persons Hong Kong — Eliza Leung Tel: 852 2864 2929 Fax: 852 2865 4916 E-mail council@hkcss.org.hk

1999 MAY 26 - 29

SYSTED 99

The elderly and the disabled in a pluralistic society: integration, diversity, equity Grenoble, France 5 rue de Liberte 38000 Grenoble France Fax: 33 0 476513722 E-mail. michael.frossard@upmf-grenoble.fr

1999 JULY 9 + 11

Conference on Life Long Learning

Educational Gerontology

Worcester, UK

Dr G Elliott, University College Worcester
Henwick Grove, Worcester, UK
e-mail: g.elliott@worc.ac.uk

1999 AUGUST 15 + 2

9th Congress of the International
Psychogeriatric Association
Challenges for the New Millennium:
Professional, Cultural and Regional Diversity
Vancouver, BC, Canada
IPA '99 Congress Secretariat
#645 - 375 Water Street
Vancouver, B.C., V6B 5C6 Canada
Tel: 1-604-681-5226 Fax: 1-604-681-2503
e-mail: congress@venuewest.com
http://www.venuewest.com/ipa99

1999 SEPTEMBER 4-9

4th Global Conference on Ageing
Towards a Society for all Ages
Montreal, Quebec
Secretariat — JPdI.
1555 Peel Street, Suite 500
Montreal, Quebec H3A 3L8
Tel: (514) 287-1070 Fax: (514) 287-1248
E-mail: jpdl@jpdl.com
Website: http://www.jpdl.com

1999 SEPTEMBER 5 - 8

The Age of Celebration & Expectation Sydney, Australia Aged Care Australia/Australian Assoc. of Gerontology '99 GPO Box 128 Sydney NSW 2001 Australia Tel: + (02) 9262 2277 Fax:+(02) 9262 3135 Email: acaaaag@tourhosts.com.au

1999 OCTOBER 28 - 31

International Congress Activity & Aging Saarland Saarbrücken
Prof Dr Reinhard Daugs
Sportwissenschaftliches Institut der Universität des Saarlandes
Im Stadtwald, Gebäude 39.3,
Postfach 151150, 66041 Saarbrücken
Tel: 0681/302-4170 Fax: 0681/302-4915
email: su12rd@rz.uni-sb.de

IAG CONGRESS CALENDAR

1999 February 21-25

Pan-American Congress of IAG

San Antonio, Texas, USA
Dr Roger McCarter, President
Univ of Texas,
Health Science Center
San Antonio, Texas
Tel: 210 567 4327 Fax: 210 567 4410.

Abstracts due November 15, 1998

Send abstracts to Dr L Branch Duke University Center on Aging Box 3003 Durham, NC 27710 Fax: + 1 919 416 5879

For further information, contact Mclodve Seals

Tel: +1 850 906 9344 Fax: +1 850 906 9345

E-mail: mscals@cortex-comm.com

1999 June 8-11

Asia/Oceania Regional Meeting of IAG

Seoul Korea

Abstract due: November 30, 1998

Secretary General: Dr Hye-Kyung Suh Suite 501, Choongang Seocho Plaze Building #1687-2, Seocho 4-dong, Seocho-ku Seoul 137-074, KOREA

Tel: +82 2 533 5237 Fax: +82 2 533 5238

E-mail: seoul99@soback.komet.nm.kr

1999 July 7-11

IV European Congress of Gerontology

Berlin, Germany

Abstract due: December 31, 1998

Congress Secretariat/Registration Congress Organization Geber & Reusch, Habichtsweg 11 D-60437 Frankfurt/Main

Tel: +49 69 50 52 29 Fax: +49 69 50 39 78 Scientific Secretariat
University Prof
Dr med Rudolf-M. Schutz
Medizinische Universitat Lubeck,
Ratzeburger Alle 160
D-23538 Lubeck, Germany
Tel: 49 4 51 500 24 00
Fax: 49 4 51 500 65 18

1999 Sept 27 – October 1 COMLAT Regional Meeting of IAG

Gerontology and Geriatrics '99 La Havana, Cuba

Dr Miguel A Acanfora Secretario, COMLAT Region of IAG Av Figuerda Alcorta 3700 9-B Buenos Aires 1425 - ARGENTINA Fax: + 541 801-6238

E-mail: acamfora@connmed.com.ar

2001 July 1-6

World Congress of Gerontology

Vancouver, British Columbia

Gloria M Gutman, PhD,
Professor and Director
Gerontology Research Centre
Simon Fraser University at Harbour
Centre

#2800-515 West Hastings Street, Vancouver, BC Canada V6B 5K3

Tel: 604/291-5062
Fax: 604/291-5066
E-mail: gutman@sfu.ca
Website: http://www.harbour.sfu.ca/gero

2005

18th World Congress of Gerontology, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil

The IAG encourages further publication of these meetings widely among your networks. In that way those interested in gerontology have the opportunity to make choices that will enhance their own professional development.

Exercise Sex OSTEOPOROSIS Nutrition

for FREE FACT SHEETS ON 'AGING AND GOOD HEALTH'

CALL 1-800-222-2225

National Institute on Aging National Institute of Health

IAG REGIONAL CHAIRS

COMLAT REGION

Chair: Dr Ernest Chalita COMLAT Region IAG Nogoya 5051 BUENOS AIRES 1417 ARGENTINA

Secretary: Dr Miguel Angel Acanfora Sociedad Argentina de Gerondonlogia y Geriatria, Av. figueroa Alcorta 3700 9-B BUENOS AIRES 1425 ARGENTINA

ASIA/OCEANIA

Chair: Dr Hajime Orimo The Japan Gerontological Society Tokyo Metropolitan Geriatric Hospital 35-2 Sakaecho, Itabashi-Ku TOKYO 173 JAPAN

Secretary: Dr Yoshinosuke Fukuchi Asia/Oceania Region Yoshikawa Building No 2, 2 Floor 2-9-8 Hongo Bunkyo-ku TOKYO 113-0033 JAPAN

EUROPEAN REGION

Chair: Dr Mario Passeri Istituto Di Clinica Medica Generale e Terapia Medica Universita di Parma Via Gramsci 14 PARMA 43100 ITALY

Secretary: Dr Francisco Guillen Llera Secretary, European Region of IAG Permanent Secretariat PO Box 9191 2080 MADRID SPAIN

NORTH AMERICAN REGION

Co-Chairs:

Dr T Franklin Williams School of Medicine & Dentistry Monroe Community Hospital 435 East Henrietta Road Rochester New York 14620

Prof. Gloria Gutman Gerontology Research Centre Simon Fraser Univeristy at Harbour Centre #2800-515 West Hastings St VANCOUVER BC V6B 5K3 CANADA

Co-Secretaries:

Dr James T Sykes
Department of Preventative Medicine
707 Warf Building
610 Walnut Street
Madison, Wisconsin,
USA 53705

Dr Nora Keating Dept of Human Ecology University of Alberta 3-38 Assiniboa Hall EDMONTON, AB T6G 2E7