Introduction

The issue of “Changing Demography and Lifestyles” is one of the five key research areas for the Gerontology Research Centre (GRC). Activities of the GRC in this area include:

1. Conducting research. Research and development in this area includes the impact of changes in timing of life events such as marriage, birth of first and last child, youth transitions and retirement, and pensions and income support issues.
2. Publishing the result of research conducted by the GRC staff and other researchers in books, reports, and articles in scholarly journals and technical magazines. A list of these publications can be seen in Section I.
3. Coordinating and participating in conferences, workshops and working groups to disseminate information on and increase awareness of older adult education.
4. Operating an information and consulting service and maintaining a library collection to respond to requests for information, advice and assistance from members of the design community, planners, developers, government agencies, students and teaching faculty, researchers, the media and consumers.
