

What some of my students are doing now

Andy Hira

Updated: Fall 2025

I measure my success as a teacher by my students' long-term success. Obviously, I can't take responsibility or credit for what students do after they graduate, but based on feedback from students I have helped them to begin to develop solid careers. If you are a former student, let me know so I can add you to this list to inspire future students (and me)! Here are some examples:

From AUC

Maritz T- earned a PhD and is teaching International Development at U of Sussex

Asmaa S.- completed an MA in SAIS Bologna in international relations

Ihab S- completed a law degree at U de Montréal

From Tulane

Jonathan H.- made it into the US Foreign Service

Jane K- completing a World Rotary Fellowship and an MA in IR in Argentina

Jennifer K- worked at Foreign Policy magazine for a while and then went to law school to focus on environmental law

From SFU

Libardo A- working for the BC government on indigenous legal issues

Alex A- worked for the Pan American Health Organization, now working for the World Bank

Mike M- Professor at an Ontario College

Jared F- working as a free lance international journalist; completed tours in Afghanistan, Sri Lanka, Cambodia, Southern Sudan, now in Myanmar

Johnna M- completed a PhD in GPE at Sussex, prof at a prominent U in London

Raymond H- working in Cambodia for a think tank involved in conflict resolution

Nelly C.- completed an internship in Guyana and now completing an MA in Planning

Alex L- working for the Canadian federal government in a management position

Yusuf R.- got into the Canadian Foreign Service

Alisa V- completed a PhD in Russian Studies at Oxford U; working as a political risk analyst in London

Sergio P- worked for the BC Government in policy evaluation, beginning a PhD in Edu.

Danielle B- completing a joint MA/LLB in international studies/law at NYU, working on indigenous health issues in Alaska

Ana Maria B- working for the United Way as a community organizer

Morgan B- completed an MA in International Development at Guelph U.; completed a tour with CIDA working in Ghana on rural development; working for a consulting co. on development

Aman S- lawyer with Dept. of Justice Canada

Rick S- Foreign Service Officer at Global Affairs Canada, posts include OSCE Govt. of Canada

Ashley B- working for Indigenous Affairs and Northern Development Canada
 Susie H- got into the MA program in Journalism at UWO
 Catherine C- completed a PhD at UBC, working on health issues
 Sergio P- completing a PhD in Education at SFU
 Mo A- runs a lumber company
 James M- COO of a London-based internet company
 Justin D- worked for Environment Canada, now with the Min. of Finance
 Chris A- Working for a First Nations' groups in govt. relations and economic development
 Matt P- completed a PhD at U of T; working as a research associate there and for the federal govt. on labour issues
 Michael P- got into Law School at TRU
 Jennifer G- started a women's NGO in India, moving on to an MA at Duke
 Shuka S- hired by a Japanese multinational to deal with energy issues in Myanmar
 E Tax- got into an MA in Scotland, focusing on oil and gas management, returned to Tanzania as an energy consultant
 Talan S- got into law school in Australia
 Aaron R- got into the MA programme at the Norman Paterson school
 Sarah M- got into the MA programme at U Ottawa
 Alicia B- working as an aboriginal consultation officer for the Alberta govt.
 Jeevan M- got into law school at the U of Sussex
 Darcie C- working as a programmer/analyst for the Newfoundland/Labrador government
 Robin T- got a job with Service Canada
 Adrian W- got a job with Indigenous and Northern Affairs Canada, Govt. of Canada
 Kai- accepted to the MS Statistics program at the City University of New York; working in IT in East Asia
 Jay I- policy advisor (Governance Strategy Advisor) for the city of Calgary
 Anthony B- accepted to the MPP programme at Queen's
 Anna K- projects coordinator for the Govt. of BC
 Richard G- entered an MBA programme in Concordia U.
 Giselle L- Policy, planning and performance officer, Canadian Border Services Agency
 Richard M- entered the SFU MPP programme
 Christian A- got a public relations job at BCIT
 Taymaz R- works as a lawyer in BC for one of the biggest firms
 Rajita D- accepted by the UNDP to work on women's health rights in Rwanda
 Adam W- working as a policy analyst for Nat Resources Canada, Govt. of Canada
 Gurnate G- finished the Master's of Technology MBA from SFU
 Noor M- went to U of S law school and is now a practicing lawyer with a leading commercial firm
 Christian A- City of Toronot

 Anna K- Senior Portfolio Mgr., BC Govt.
 Lulu L- got hired as a professional evaluation analyst for a consulting firm in Ottawa
 Arkam N- hired as an accountant and data analyst for a leading apparel company in Vancouver
 Sebastian MC- working as a financial analyst for a transportation company in Vancouver
 Ester di M- got a job offer from the BC provincial government as a policy analyst
 Luke F- got into UBC journalism school
 Kyle S- Environment and Climate Change Canada
 Samuel T- Dept. of National Defence
 Ronaldo A-Y, Energy Economics and Royalties Branch
 Esam al-M- Research and Policy Advisor, Govt. of Alberta