

Shenanigans Reference Book By Lanz Singbeil

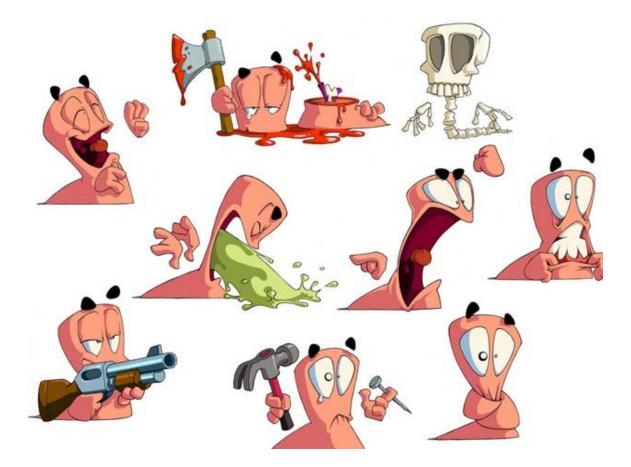

TABLE OF CONTENTS:

Chapter 1: Transportation	Page 4
Chapter 2: Accommodations	Page 5
Chapter 3: Checklist	Page 6
Chapter 4: Food	Page 7
Chapter 5: Activities	Page 8
Glossary	Page 9
1	0

This Page Left Intentionally Blank

CHAPTER 1: TRANSPORTATION:

My home is situated in Gibsons.

The address is 678 Fairmont Rd.

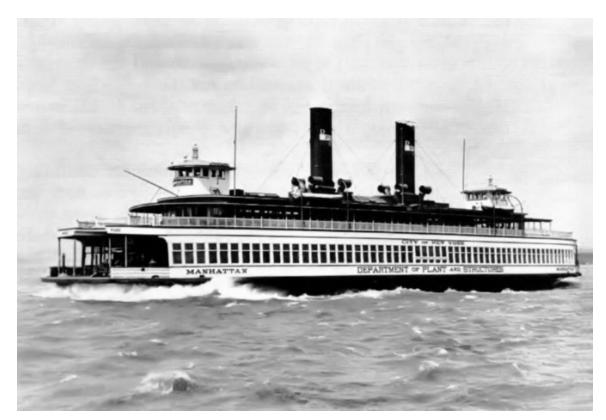

If you live in Vancouver or elsewhere in the lower mainland I recommend traveling on Friday with me. I will be heading from Surrey as soon as possible after 3:30 and plan to catch a ferry at around 6:30 that will take us to Gibsons.

Note: BC Ferries will be switching their ferry schedule right before Friday so that is why the ferry stuff is a bit unclear right now.

If all goes well those who are coming from Gibsons or further up the coast can join us at my house at 7:30.

When we are traveling during our stay I will be driving people illegally being as I don't have my full license yet. Other's who have vehicles are encouraged to bring them for when we do out-trips such as to the beach.

Many other locations we will visit are within walking distance, such as my backyard and Lower Gibsons. You may also fly or teleport if you know how although the winds are a bit tricky.

CHAPTER 2: ACCOMMODATIONS

Anyone (anyone invited that is) and everyone who would like to sleep over any of the nights of my party is welcome to do so.

Please bring a sleeping bag and a pillow if at all possible. If not a pillow please still try for a sleeping bag.

I have a spare bedroom and 2 large rooms with ample floor space. I also have mattresses most likely enough for everyone but if you have a Thermarest, small foam mat, or something you could bring that might be nice.

CHAPTER 3: CHECK LIST

Please bring the following items:

- Swimming Suit
- Towel
- At Least 1 water gun.
- Changes of Clothes
- Good Shoes for Running/Walking
- At Least 1 Root Vegetable
- Personal Hygiene Supplies
- Movies You Want To Watch (Scott please bring Mulan on DVD and Rescuers Down
- Under in addition to any others you want to bring)
- Boardgames You Want To Play
- Dice (1d20 if you have one)
- 1 Bag of chips/ bits+sticks/ other such snack And/Or
- 1 Box of cereal (Sam we can probably get rice milk for you locally)
- Sunscreen
- Sunglasses
- Sundial
- Sunshine
- A Sun

- Other people (If you want to bring a friend please check with me first. It will most likely be alright but I do need to know)

- Anything else I forgot.

Optional:

- Make some sort of cool treat (Ben B. please make some chocolate thing)
- A Good Frisbee
- A Rugby Ball
- A Good Wooden Stake

Optional:

- Laptop for LAN gaming or being anti-social
- Boffing weapons (if you are cheap you can get some weak hammers, axes, and foam swords from most dollar stores)
- Magic cards
- Video games or controllers (I have 1 Wii. That's it)
- Wii dance pad (anyone have one?)

CHAPTER 4: FOOD

Although I wish I could feed everyone an everything forever I too am a starving student. I propose we cook the majority - if not all - the food we want to eat at least during the main mealtimes.

To this end I propose that everyone bring as much money as they can afford for meals. We can asses the food situation when we get there being as I am not in Gibsons right now. We will also need to plan a menu based on what every wants to and can eat. It will definitely be necessary that we do some shopping.

If we shop right a good estimate is 10-12 dollars a day per person. 20-30 dollars a day means we eat bacon at every meal or some of this stuff:

CHAPTER 5: ACTIVITIES

The following activities present a tentative list of suggestions. Everything will change when we actually get started but this gives us a good foundation.

Friday Night

- Plan the menu for the weekend.
- Get Settled
- Hide and seek in the strange house!
- Watch Labyrinth + Disney movies
- RP
- Party Games

Saturday Morning

- Games
- Shopping Quest

Saturday Afternoon

- Drop off Labyrinth for Elliott at Camp Byng
- BEACH! Roberts Creek or Davis Bay
- Ice Cream
- Stick Ball (immediately after supper)

Saturday Night

- Games
- Watch good Anime movies or episodes or whatever else
- RP
- Party Games
- Sleep under the stars or in a big tent.

Sunday Morning:

- Homemade pancakes AND waffles

Sunday Afternoon:

- Boffing
- Water Fight

Sunday Night:

- Watch the sunset at Bonny Brook Beach and then go use Ben's hot tub.
- RP?
- Whatever movies we want

Monday Morning:

- Go Away! (but please clean up first)

GLOSSARY:

BC Ferries: A very dumb company that used to be in the public sector before it got bought out by some Americans. They are in charge of running ferries to the Sunshine Coast, Vancouver Island and some other places I forget. The ferries are always late. Sometimes they are so late that they are early. The ride itself is kind of pretty if you haven't done it a billion times before. There is also a video arcade on the ferry which sometimes has Metal Slug...but not this time.

Gibsons: A small town located on the Sunshine Coast which is not an island but does require a ferry to get to. The current population is 4,000. The town was founded by the explorer George Gibson in 1886. It was once well known globally for its strawberries. Ever since the strawberrglar and his family moved in exports have declined to a trickle. Attempts to catch the thief have lasted over 100 years.

Labyrinth: A Cult Classic 80's fantasy-musical starring David Bowie and a young Jennifer Connelly. A new-age Wizard of Oz meets Alice in Wonderland.

Lanz Singbeil: an awesome guy who is known for hosting really fun parties. Among his endearing qualities is his incredibly inappropriate loudness.

Lower Gibsons: One of the two divisions of Gibsons the other of which is Upper Gibsons. This is where the antique stores, marina, and ocean are located.

Root Vegetable: Often used in stews and roasts root vegetables are any vegetable that grows in the ground such as turnips, onions, yams, potatoes, beats, and carrots.

RP: or "the R.P." is a role playing game similar to Dungeons & Dragons but designed by Lanz Singbeil. It utilizes a more simplified combat system and a much more open ended approach to role playing. Unique features include a variety of jobs/classes each with a large selection of skills as well as "life modifiers" that affect how you play from the very beginning. It is fun. You should try it.

Stick Ball: An amazing game invented by Jesse Morrissey. Two teams face off and compete to knock over a wooden stake in the middle of the field. To knock it over they use a rugby ball. Both teams are attacking and defending the one stake.

Surrey: A large suburb that is slowly turning itself into some sort of city thing. There are no good smells in Surrey. It's either dead fish, rotten eggs, manure, car exhaust, or garbage. In any given day there will be multiple smells and most often there is a mix. Scientists have been studying this smell phenomenon and, although impossible to prevent, they are making attempts to predict the worse smells so people have fair warning.

Upper Gibsons: One of the two divisions of Gibsons the other of which is Lower Gibsons. This is where the mall, Movie Theater, and fast food places are located.