CLIMBING

Belaying:
Participants will be taught essential “belay” skills which empowers them to be responsible for each other’s safety while on the climbing wall. This allows for more independence as the week progresses and ultimately results in much more climbing for participants. Parents/Guardians must be comfortable with their camper belaying and being belayed. As these skills are taught on the ground, parents/guardians should also prepare campers to engage seriously with this very important subject and do less climbing on day 1.

Use of the Climbing Wall:
Indoor Rock Climbing involves added risks, dangers and hazards which may include falls (up to 10 meters), cuts and abrasions; failure of climbing and rappelling equipment including ropes, harnesses, slings, anchor points, climbing holds, or any other equipment associated with or related to climbing and rappelling and belaying; and failure to climb or rappel or belay safely or within one’s own ability.
Parents/Guardians with any questions or concerns about the potential risks, dangers and hazards of Indoor Rock Climbing may contact the SFU Climbing Office at 778-782-4059.
