In light of the Covid situation, we are looking for a passionate educator who can help us with our 3 children starting in September.

We have 3 kids in the West Van school district. In the fall, they will be in grades 2, 6, and 7. We would like to have someone help with their assigned school work in addition to help them to take responsibility for their own learning and perhaps do some project based learning to figure out what they are passionate about.

It has been a struggle for my husband and me to try and work from home while we are homeschooling the kids. We have learned during this time that 1) we are extremely grateful for teachers and 2) we don’t have the patience to be teachers.

While we are hopeful that school will be back to normal in September, we have heard grumblings that it will be more like it was in June. We want to reduce some of the battles in our household by hiring an energetic educator to make sure that the kids are academically on track and maintain their intellectual curiosity.

We would like to have the educator in our home, as opposed to exposing the kids to more screens. We have been practicing social distancing and wearing masks outside of our home since February. We are hoping to find someone equally cautious.

We are open to schedules and ideas, but we were thinking of 15-25 hours per week depending on how much school is actually in session. Pay will be commensurate with experience. We will start at $30+.
