Non-Traditional Tutor Needed for CSD Student

Location: SFU Burnaby

Description: We are writing on behalf of a student who is registered with the Centre for Students with Disabilities. The student is searching for a non-traditional tutor for the current term (Summer 2018). The non-traditional tutor does not need to have a background with the course material. Rather, the student is seeking support during their study/work time including helping them to stay on task/focused, share ideas, and chat about content. This student requires side-by-side support as they struggle with focusing without the support of others around.

Requirements: Must be available for 1-3 sessions a week with each session ideally being 3 hours. Session length is flexible according to the tutor’s schedule, but each session needs to be at least 1.5-2 hours.

Wage: $50/3 hours

Deadline to Apply: August 1, 2018

How to Apply: Interested applicants are encouraged to contact the Centre for Students with Disabilities via e-mail at csdo@sfu.ca.

Additional Notes: The Centre for Students with Disabilities will pass your response email directly on to the student as they are not involved in the hiring process. Hiring and payment arrangements are the responsibility of the student.
