We have a minimum entrance GPA of a B+ (3.33/4.33), but due to competition, we usually admit students with a higher GPA than the minimum (often A- or higher ~ 3.67).

Here are some ideas to increase your GPA in order to be eligible for the program:

1. Completing a minimum of three 300 or 400 level undergraduate courses at any post-secondary institution in areas specifically related to Public Health or Health Sciences, with a minimum A-grade in each course.

2. Re-taking any 300 or 400 level courses for which you received low grades in to increase your overall GPA. In order for the course to be considered as re-taken, it must be taken at the institution where the original course was completed.

3. Completing a minimum of three graduate level courses related to Public Health or Health Sciences

Please note that all course grades included in your GPA calculation must be reported on your transcript(s) at the time of the application deadline.
