Dr. Vic Neufeld is Professor Emeritus in the Faculty of Health Sciences at McMaster University, Hamilton, Canada, where for 27 years he served as a general internist, educator and researcher. He was the founding director of McMaster’s Centre for International Health. With a growing interest in health research for development, he left McMaster in 1997 to work as a senior advisor with the Geneva-based Council on Health Research for Development (COHRED), focusing on health research priority setting in low and middle-income countries. In 2003, he became the founding national coordinator of the Canadian Coalition for Global Health Research (CCGHR), and now serves as a CCGHR Special Advisor. Professor Neufeld continues to have a special interest in health research capacity strengthening, including leadership development, particularly in low and middle-income countries.