REMARKS

ENGLISH III

Approved arrangement of other 5-hour, 3-hour, and 2-hour credits in English, including unused alternatives in the list above, and any of the following:

- 414 & 464—Modern American Studies
- 415 & 465—Modern British Studies
- 416 & 466—General Literature
- 418 & 468—Special Studies A
- 419 & 469—Special Studies B
- 420 & 470—Special Studies C
- 411-3—Directed Studies A
- 412-2—Directed Studies B
- 413-3—Directed Reading A
- 414-2—Directed Reading B
- 415-3—Directed Research A
- 416-2—Directed Research B

Students in English shall normally not take English 491, 492, 495 or 496, but credits achieved in any of these shall count for an Honors English student reverting to Major.

Plan B

The English Major in Plan B may take any approved arrangement of 5-hour, 3-hour and 2-hour credits in English for a total of 30 hours. At the end of his graduating semester he will write comprehensive examinations.

Plan C

Students in English shall take 491, 492, 495 or 496, and 30 hours of English credits, including 15 hours of English credits at the 300-level or above. Of these, 22 must be in English, following:

Plan A

The English student in Plan A shall take one 5-hour lecture and seminar combination chosen from each of the following sets of alternatives:

- Set 1 491 & 451 or 492 & 452
- Classics or Tudor Studies
- Set 2 493 & 473 or 494 & 454
- Classics or Seventeenth-Century Studies

REPLACE WITH:

A student proposing to take Honors in English should follow the same program as an English Major in his lower-level studies, except that the department strongly recommends that he take English 212 among his five lower-division English courses, or additionally. Preferably before entering upper levels he should apply to the department for permission to enter Honors. In upper levels he may follow either plan A or plan B, for a minimum of 52 credits in English.

subjects largely restricted to literature written before 1990, from which its majors must take four, its honors students all six. Among the six sets American Literature makes one, with before Civil War and after Civil War to World War I as its alternatives. It is now proposed to add a seventh set with three alternatives: Canadian Literature A or Canadian Literature B or Commonwealth Literature, with provision that its majors must take from any four of the seven, its Honors students from any six. Admitted that most of the Canadian and Commonwealth studies will necessarily be devoted to modern literature, all three nevertheless almost demand some tracing of their historic origins, and in any event the system will still require our English students to do at least half of their upper level specialization in earlier material. The change will be in keeping with a trend in other Canadian universities to increased recognition of Canadian and other Commonwealth literature.
