MEMORANDUM

To..... Senate

From..... Senate Committee on
Undergraduate Studies

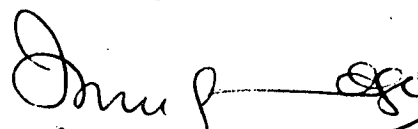

Subject..... NEW COURSE PROPOSALS - DEPTS.
OF POLITICAL SCIENCE AND
SOCIOLOGY/ANTHROPOLOGY

Date..... 4 July, 1974

Attached are four course proposals from the Departments of Political Science and Sociology/Anthropology, recommended to Senate for approval by the Senate Committee on Undergraduate Studies at its meeting of June 25th. These courses reached the Committee too late to be considered at an earlier meeting; and approval of the courses at the June 25th meeting meant that the deadline for submission of items for the July meeting of Senate had passed.

As an interim measure, it is hoped to offer these courses in the Fall semester 1974 and Spring semester 1975 while the final program proposals for Political Science and Sociology/Anthropology are being prepared. The reasons for this are set out in the attached submission. It thus becomes necessary to consider these courses at the July Senate meeting so that, if approved, they may be included in pre-registration material for the coming semester. Since the August meeting of Senate has been postponed to the 12th August by which time pre-registration will already be far advanced, consideration in August will be too late.

The Committee therefore requests the approval of Senate for the addition of these proposals to the existing items submitted by it under Section 5.3 of the existing agenda.

MEMORANDUM

To	SENATE	From	SENATE COMMITTEE ON UNDERGRADUATE STUDIES
Subject	NEW COURSE PROPOSALS - DEPTS. OF POLITICAL SCIENCE AND SOCIOLOGY/ ANTHROPOLOGY	Date	JULY 4, 1974

At its meeting of 25 June, the Senate Committee on Undergraduate Studies considered the following course proposals from the Departments of Political Science and Sociology/Anthropology:

PSA. 480-5 - Special Topics A

PSA. 481-5 - Special Topics B

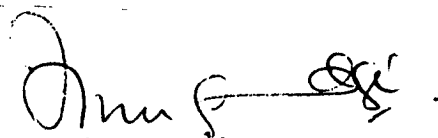

PSA. 482-5 - Special Topics C

PSA. 483-5 - Special Topics D.

These course proposals are now recommended to Senate for approval.

The Senate Committee on Undergraduate Studies also recommends that, if the above courses are approved, the normal two-semester time lag be waived to enable them to be offered in the Fall semester.

In presenting this recommendation, a number of points should be made. (1). It should be noted that these courses are presented for offering only until development of the programs in Political Science and in Sociology/Anthropology. The reason for this is that, with the addition of new faculty in the Fall semester 1974, the Departments of Political Science and Sociology/Anthropology will be able to mount somewhat expanded course offerings and these courses are proposed to enable them to do this. (2). The Committee questioned the advisability of establishing, even on a temporary basis, new courses bearing the old PSA. label when that Department had been divided and when program planning for the separate Departments of Political Science and Sociology/Anthropology was well under way. The reason for approving the recommendation as it stands is two-fold. First, the courses are designed to provide additional offerings for those students already involved in the existing PSA. programs. Second, since the new programs in Political Science and Sociology/Anthropology have not yet been put into effect, the only designation which these courses could carry was the PSA. one.

From I. Whitaker
E. McWhinney

Subject Special Topics Courses

Date May 6, 1974

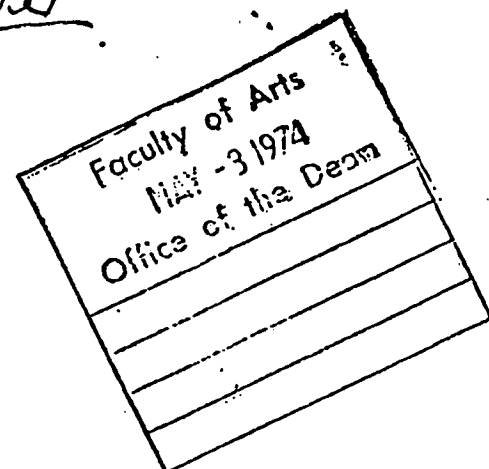

In support of our request for special sanction for four special topics courses, PSA 480 - Special Topics (A); PSA 481 (B); PSA 482 (C) and PSA 483 (D), all of which should be available for both the Department of Political Science and the Department of Sociology & Anthropology, I would point out on my own behalf and that of Professor McWhinney (who is absent in Europe) that the substantial increase in new faculty in the Fall 1974 semester will leave the Departments in some difficulty in mounting adequately varied programmes.

The new faculty have been appointed in the expectation of new curricula being formulated during the summer, but these will not, of course, be available for teaching in the Fall of 1974, and it is unlikely that they will have completed all the appropriate review procedures for implementation in the Spring 1975 semester. It is desirable that we give new faculty from the beginning the chance of teaching courses within their areas of competence and specialization, rather than some of the outmoded PSA offerings that will be discontinued in the new curricula. The request for sanction for one year will enable this to be done.

I might add that both Professor McWhinney and I have been under considerable pressure from existing students to include new courses that adequately reflect changing emphases in the disciplines since the late PSA curriculum was approved. To employ these faculty in courses currently in the curriculum would be extremely wasteful and, as things stand in anthropology at least, the four new anthropologists who are coming would have to teach the same courses in the fall and spring semesters in order to be fully employed.
