MEMORANDUM

To SENATE

From SENATE COMMITTEE ON UNDERGRADUATE STUDIES

Subject Requirements for the B.A. degree

Date 10th November, 1975

At its meeting of November 4th, 1975, the Senate Committee on Undergraduate Studies approved the motion:

That the changes and requirements for the B.A. Degree General and Honors Programs, as set forth in SCUS. 75-42a, be approved and recommended to Senate for approval.

It was noted that the requirement that 60 and 72 semester hours be taken in Arts subjects in the major and honors programs respectively represented an increase of only one hour over existing requirements rather than ten, since the hours required under separate existing regulations come to 69 and 81 for the two programs.

Members of SCUS focused considerable attention on the group requirements and specifically on the requirement for two science courses. Three arguments were brought to bear in support of this requirement:

1. that basic scientific "literacy" is essential to an understanding of today's society;
2. that balance in a liberal education requires at least some work in science; and
3. that demystification is important if the non-scientist is to avoid placing undue credence on science.

Moreover it was noted that 86% of the 218 arts graduands in the 74-1 semester had enrolled in courses that would meet the science requirement being proposed and that fifteen of thirty-one Canadian universities surveyed have a science requirement for arts students. Several members of SCUS argued strongly against the science requirement primarily on the grounds that most of the proposed revisions to B.A. requirements represented a liberalizing of requirements whereas the science requirement represented undue compulsion.

It was noted that departments in the Faculty of Science offer a number of courses for the non-scientist, primarily courses relating science to society. In addition, each science department includes in its regular curriculum courses which have no science prerequisites other than those required for admission to the University. Furthermore, the Faculty of Science Curriculum Committee has indicated its willingness to encourage the development of additional courses of particular interest to Arts students. Finally, the Faculty of Arts Curriculum Committee is prepared to consider for recognition for credit in group C (Science) some courses outside the Faculty of Science in such Departments as Kinesiology, Psychology, and Geography.

(For a complete outline of General University Requirements please refer to Section 6.4 of the Calendar).

Faculty of Arts Requirements for the B.A. Degree

The Faculty of Arts requirements fall into three categories: 1. The distribution of the total credit hours among the Faculties of the University as well as the various departments within the Faculty of Arts (see Group Requirements). 2. Requirements for acceptance into and continuance in degree programs. 3. The establishment of minimum academic standards via the Grade Point Average (GPA) for successful completion of the various degree programs.

1. Distribution of Total Credit Hours

All Levels General Degree Program	A minimum of 120 credit hours of which at least 60 hours must be taken within the Faculty of Arts.
All Levels Honors Degree Program	A minimum of 132 credit hours of which at least 72 hours must be taken within the Faculty.

Note: Lower division courses include all credit courses numbered between 001 and 299. Upper division courses include all undergraduate credit courses numbered 300 and above.

Lower level courses are those courses completed within the first 60 hours of credit. Upper level courses are those courses completed within credits accumulated after completion of the first 60 hours.

Lower Levels	General and Honors Program At least 60 credit hours of which: 1. At least 24 must satisfy the appropriate Faculty of Arts Group A & B requirements (see Group Requirements on page 82). 2. The lower division requirements for at least one Arts major degree program should be completed. 3. At least 45 credit hours must be in lower division courses. NOTE: Any upper division courses will not count towards the upper level requirements if taken prior to admission to the upper levels. 4. No more than 16 may be taken in any one semester without the written consent of the Dean.

General Program

At least 60 credit hours of which:

Upper

Levels

1. At least 45 credit hours must be in upper division courses. Of that 45, a minimum of 30 upper division hours must be completed in the Arts major subject. At least 15 upper division hours are required for a minor in an Arts subject (see Majors, Double Majors and Major/Minors on pages 83 and 84.)
2. At least 15 credit hours must be in upper and/or lower division courses outside the major subject area. This requirement is automatically fulfilled when a student completes requirements for an approved double major or major/minor program.
3. At least 45 credit hours must be taken within the Faculty of Arts and be used for credit toward the degree. This restriction does not apply in those cases where a student is enrolled in an approved degree program involving two or more Faculties such as a double major or major/minor degree program.
4. No more than 18 credit hours may be taken in any one semester without the written consent of the Dean.

To:

Students in their first 60 credit hours may not take more than 16 credit hours in any one semester and students in their final 60 credit hours in the General Program or 72 hours in the Honors Program may not take more than 18 credit hours without the written consent of the Dean.

GENERAL PROGRAM

- b) A minimum of 12 semester hours in courses in Group B, including courses from at least two different Group B departments;
- c) A minimum of two courses in Group C;
- d) A minimum of 30 semester hours outside one's Arts major program. (Note: courses taken outside one's major program as part of the Group Requirements, i.e., a, b, and c above, may be counted towards Requirement d);

- f) A minimum of 45 semester hours in upper division courses including a minimum of 30 hours in an Arts major program;
- g) a minimum of 70 semester hours in Arts subjects.

* A department may designate up to 8 credit hours of Upper Division courses offered by other departments as being acceptable in fulfilling part of this requirement.

Rationale

- p. 81 Faculty of Arts Re-quire-ments The Regulations in the Faculty of Arts have grown piecemeal during the ten years of the University's existence. They have gradually evolved into a system which is riddled with pitfalls for the hapless student and for the unwary faculty advisor. Then, too, some of the regulations, although enforceable, are never in fact enforced. Just what sanctions, for example, is the Faculty of Arts prepared to impose in the case of a student who does not complete his 'Group Reuirements' in his lower levels? As it turns out, the Faculty has never imposed sanction in cases of transgression against this regulation. Why, then, not remove the regulation?

During the course of several meetings this Summer, the Faculty of Arts Curriculum Committee undertook to review the Faculty's Regulations and is herewith reporting its recommendations for revising the Regulations. It is hoped that these proposals will be discussed both in Departments and in Student Unions and that reactions can be returned to the Committee by September 19.

The major changes proposed are these:

1. The distinction between lower level and upper level students is to be abolished. A student may take any course at any time provided he meets the specific course pre-requisites. Thus a student need not wait until his sixtieth hour to begin the upper division courses required for a major. A student may enter a major degree program as soon as he has satisfied the specific lower division pre-requisites for that program. (This is the longstanding practice in the Faculty of Science.)
2. Currently we require students to take at least 45 credit hours in lower division courses. This requirement is simply to be abolished.
3. Greater diversity in course selection will be required. Under the present regulations it is possible for a student to get a B.A. degree by taking courses in only two departments. Under the proposed new regulation, students would be required to at least sample the wares of five departments, including at least one in the Faculty of Science.

Rationale (cont.)

p. 81. Faculty of Arts
Requirements

C O M M E N T S

- a) Currently students need sample the wares of only one Group A Department.
- b) Currently students need sample the wares of only one Group B Department.
- c) Under present regulations, students are not required to take any science courses. The Faculty of Arts Curriculum Committee recommends that students have some mandatory exposure to science.
- d) Present regulations ensure only that a student will have 27 of a total 120 hours outside his major. Increasing this number to 30 is a modest change.
- e) No change.
- f) No change.
- g) Current regulations require a minimum of 69.

The Faculty of Arts Curriculum Committee supported the change to allow major students to count courses taken outside the major towards their major requirements. The Committee felt that this change would allow departments to respond to individual students' programmes and goals.

83 Group Requirements

Change in Requirements

From:

"Students entering with Advanced Credit
(Grade XIII, B.C. or equivalent)

Upon written authorization of the Academic Advice Centre, certain Group E subjects (designated by the Faculty of Arts Curriculum Committee) may be applied up to a maximum of 6 hours towards the Arts Group Requirements. Normally it is desirable that courses fulfilling group requirements be spread more or less equally over the first four levels."

To:

"All students registered in the Faculty of Arts must have a minimum of 12 semester hours² courses in Group A, including courses from at least two different Group A departments; a minimum of 12 semester hours in courses in Group B, including courses from at least two different Group B departments; a minimum of two courses in Group C.

Rationale

In accordance with two changes in the Group Requirements, firstly that students no longer are required to take them in Lower Levels, secondly, that 2 courses in Group C (the Faculty of Science) are required, it was decided that the six hour exemption was no longer desirable. As Arts students transferring from another institution would have satisfied the requirements of one Group, and usually the Group C requirement, it is felt that the completion of the remainder of the courses is not a heavily restrictive requirement. Students transferring from Science will have completed the Group C requirement and most likely 6 hours of Group A or B requirements. As they must take a total of 70 hours of Arts subjects, the completion of Group requirements would not force them to take additional courses. It was felt that 12 hours of courses in each Group was a minimum requirement which should not be waived.

Change in Regulations

p. 84 Requirements for Acceptance and Continuance

2.1 General Program

From:

"Upon registering for that semester in which he will take his 61st credit, the student enters upper levels work in his degree program at this time he must formally declare on his registration for the specific degree program he wished to pursue. This formal declaration establishes the exact requirements for graduation as they appear in the Calendar in force at the time of the declaration. Students are urged to keep a copy of this Calendar known as their "Graduating Calendar" for reference."

To:

"Prior to or upon registering for that semester in which the 61st credit is taken students must formally declare a major program. This formal declaration establishes the exact requirements for graduation as they appear in the Calendar in effect at the time of declaration. Students are urged to keep a copy of this calendar, known as their "Graduating Calendar" for reference."

Change in Regulations OMIT: "Although students may indicate their intentions to pursue a specific degree program prior to entering the upper levels and seek advice concerning the program within the appropriate department(s), this does not have formal validity and a formal declaration must be made at the proper time on the registration form."

2.2 Honors Program

Change in Regulations

From:

"Upon registering for that semester in which he will take his 61st credit, a student may apply for admission to the Honors program of a particular department."

To:

"Prior to or upon registering for that semester in which the 61st credit will be taken a student may apply for admission to the Honors program of a particular department."

Rationale

Abolition of the distinction between upper and lower levels makes 60 hours an arbitrary time for each student to declare a major. Some students will be pursuing a major program prior to reaching 60 hours, therefore they should be permitted to formally declare a major when they begin their upper division studies, so that they are governed by the Calendar which they are following.

	Faculty of Arts
Subject Science Requirement - Faculty of Arts	Date November 3, 1975.

Paper C 96-23, distributed to the F.A.C.C. at its meeting of July 17, 1975, presents a survey of 218 students* with respect to the completion of Group A and B requirements and Math and Science courses. The following trend is reflected. Of the 218 students surveyed, 99 were enrolled in Science courses while 89 had enrolled in Math courses. On a percentage basis, 86% of the 218 students surveyed were enrolled in courses that would meet the science requirement currently being proposed by the Faculty of Arts.
