3. As a result of a changing emphasis in the department and changing personnel, we propose to drop CMNS 340-3, The Political Economy of the Radio Spectrum and Telecommunication II, and CMNS 336-3, Social Change and Community Media, from the calendar. We anticipate bringing forward a proposal which will combine some elements from CMNS 336-3 with a restructuring of our two video production courses, CMNS 257-3, Explorations in Video, and CMNS 357-3, Video Techniques and Applications. Our purpose in bringing such a proposal forward is to provide opportunities for our students in media production and recognition of the skills and perspectives which they gain through practically oriented courses.
