.....	FIDS Undergraduate Curriculum Committee.....		Gerontology Curriculum Committee.....
Subject.....	Additional Special Topics Courses.....	Date.....	4 February 1985.....

Proposed Additions to the Calendar

The treatment of selected psychological, sociological, economic, biological and practical aspects of the aging of individuals and populations.

PREREQUISITE: 60 semester hours credit GERO 300-3 recommended

GERO 412-3: Special Topics in Gerontology

The treatment of selected psychological, sociological, economic, biological and practical aspects of the aging of individuals and populations.

PREREQUISITE: 60 semester hours credit GERO 300-3 recommended

RATIONALE: Given that the DGT has received monies from a number of external sources (e.g., Squibb, Fred Silber Fund) to offer Special Topics courses, there is a real possibility that two (or even three) Special Topics courses could be offered in a given semester. Therefore, for administrative purposes, it is crucial that Special Topics numbers (in addition to the existing GERO 410 designation) be available.
