MEMORANDUM

To.....Mike Roberts, AssociateDean of Arts	From.....J. I. Little, ChairmanGraduate Studies CommitteeHistory Department
Subject.....Graduate Revisions - History	Date.....9 April 1987

The History Department has recently adopted the following minor revisions to its Graduate Program. I assume they will not need Senate approval?

1. The second language requirement to be changed as follows:

From:

"The Department will require a reading knowledge of any language relevant to the student's research. Students proposing to study Canadian History must demonstrate an ability to read French."

To:

"Students will be required to demonstrate a reading ability in one language, other than English, that is acceptable to the supervisory committee. Students proposing to study Canadian History must demonstrate an ability to read French. Ability will be determined by a time-limited examination consisting of the translation of a passage of history in the particular language. A dictionary will be permitted."

2. In future, applicants to the Ph.D. programme will be required to submit an example of their written work.
3. Remove Ph.D. "Thesis Areas of Specialization" from calendar. Other minor editorial changes. [see attached].

Admission of Graduate Students

Admission for M.A. students will be in the Fall semester only, and for Ph.D. students in either the Fall or Spring semesters. Applications for Fall admission should be completed by March 1 of that year, and applications for Spring admission by October 15 of the previous year.

Ph.D. applicants must submit a sample of their written work from earlier or ongoing graduate studies.

M.A. PROGRAM

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION

Candidates for the M.A. degree must satisfy the minimum entrance requirements set by the university: namely, at least a 3.0 average or its equivalent. In addition, the department requires a 3.25 average or its equivalent in the major subject over the last two years of the undergraduate program. A degree in a discipline related to History may be accepted in some cases.

Programs of Study

Upon admission into the Graduate program, each student will be assigned a supervisor. For information of the supervisory committee see General Regulations, page 211. All candidates for the M.A. degree must satisfy the following minimum requirements, totalling 30 semester hours:

1. 20 semester hours of course work of which at least 15 semester hours must be in graduate courses in the department. Each year at least two seminars of two-semester length (ten semester hours) will be offered, one in Canadian History, the other in European History. A third two-semester seminar may be offered in another field when student numbers warrant. All students will be required to take at least one of these two part sequences of courses, HIST 806 and 807, or HIST 808 and 809, or HIST 810 and 811, which will be available in the Fall and Spring semesters. The remaining courses required to complete the degree will be offered, in most cases (with the exception of History 800-5), as individual single-semester study courses (five semester hours each). Students with significant financial support from fellowships or scholarships will be expected to take a full course load each semester; those with T.A.ships or R.A.ships may extend their course load over a maximum of three semesters, but will be expected to begin thesis research in the third semester.
2. A thesis of 10 semester hours. Before beginning the research semester, the student must prepare a thesis prospectus which indicates the nature of the problem, the availability and accessibility of the relevant materials, etc. After consultation with the senior supervisor, the prospectus must be submitted to a meeting of the supervisory committee for its suggestions and approval.

Under certain circumstances, the department may consent to the awarding of the M.A. degree on the basis of course work and extended essays only. In place of the thesis, the candidate must complete an additional ten semester hours in course work and must submit to the Examining Committee three extended essays, based on course work.

Language Requirements

The department will require a reading knowledge of any language relevant to the student's research. Students proposing to study Canadian History must demonstrate an ability to read French.

The Department of Languages, Literatures and Linguistics offers courses to help Graduate students to meet language requirements.

PH.D. PROGRAM

General

Prospective candidates for the Ph.D. degree should be advised that the degree is granted in recognition of the student's general grasp of the subject matter of a broad area of study; for his/her ability to think critically; and for his/her power to analyse and coordinate problems and data from allied fields of study. Through his/her thesis the student must demonstrate his/her ability to make an original contribution to knowledge, either through the discovery and analysis of new information or through the exercise of independent critical power.

A student ordinarily will be admitted to the Ph.D. program after completion of an M.A. or its equivalent. Applicants with a B.A. applying directly to the Ph.D. program must have at least a 3.5 GPA or its equivalent. Candidates for the M.A. degree at SFU, after successful completion of two semesters and a GPA of 3.5 in 10 semester hours of course-work with a maximum length of 100 pages. Through his/her thesis the student must demonstrate his/her ability to make an original contribution to knowledge, either through the discovery and analysis of new information or through the exercise of independent critical power.

Students will be required to demonstrate a reading ability in one language, other than English, that is acceptable to the supervisory committee. Students proposing to study Canadian History must demonstrate an ability to read French. Ability will be determined by a time-limited examination consisting of a passage in the particular language. A dictionary will be permitted.

Program of Study

Upon admission into the graduate program, each student will be assigned a faculty supervisor. For information of the Supervisory Committee see General Regulations, page 211. The Supervisory Committee and student shall determine three fields of study, at least two of which will be chosen from the list printed below. A third field may be chosen within or outside the Department of History with permission of the Graduate Studies Committee. The student and each field supervisor will agree as soon as possible upon a general list of readings upon which the field examination will be based. No formal course work is required. The written examinations in the three fields will be taken in one two-week period and an oral comprehensive exam will follow within one month. Each written examination will be three hours in length, and will consist of two or three questions to be chosen from a broader list. A "fail", "pass", or "pass with distinction" will be assigned to each field by the field supervisor after the completion of the oral examination. A student who fails one of the fields, and one only, will be permitted to sit that examination once again. This examination will be in written form only, with a second reader chosen from the Supervisory Committee. The field examinations will normally be taken during the student's fourth semester of enrolment in the Ph.D. program.

but students are expected to participate in the relevant graduate seminar.

Through his/her thesis the student must demonstrate his/her ability to make an original contribution to knowledge, either through the discovery and analysis of new information or through the exercise of independent critical power.
