information technology, the student acquires the tools and techniques to effectively manage this resource, now and in the future.

ENROLLMENT AND SCHEDULING:

Estimated Enrollment: 25+/- When will the course first be offered: continuing

How often will the course be offered: twice per year

JUSTIFICATION:

The practice of Managing Information Systems evolves very rapidly - a course in an up-to-date curriculum literally changes every time it is offered, but the general description is sufficient for a longer time. It is, however, now time to tune up the description to accommodate the changes that have taken place in the industry, technology, and theory.

RESOURCES:

David Crouch (sessional)
Drew Parker

Which Faculty member will normally teach the course: _____

What are the budgetary implications of mounting the course: N.A. all fully budgeted
