

Memo

To: Senate
From: Jonathan C. Driver
Date: 17 October 2001
Re: Graduate General Regulations

I intend to present the following motion at the November 26th meeting of Senate:

“That Senate approve the revised Graduate General Regulations described in the attached document, and that these regulations take effect 1st September 2002”

Note: In the accompanying documentation the current and proposed regulations are given in parallel columns to make it easier to compare the two versions. Unchanged regulations are printed across the full page.

Rationale and Background

Senate Graduate Studies Committee has undertaken a review of General Graduate Regulations, and we are now ready to present proposed changes to Senate. The review resulted in numerous changes. Most of these are relatively minor editorial changes, designed to clarify the intent of a regulation. However, there are also some more substantive changes, and these are listed below.

1.3.6 Clarification that successful completion of a qualifying year does not guarantee admission to a graduate programme. Creates maximum length of time for qualifying status.

1.3.8 The requirements for conditional admission should normally be met in the first semester of enrollment.

1.5.1 Adds the following categories to the grading system: A+, C+. The A+ brings us into line with other universities. The C+ recognises the need for graduate diploma programmes to have a greater degree of flexibility in grades at the lower end of the scale.

1.5.3 Changes the approval process for S/U grading

1.6.4 Clarifies which graduate programmes require a student to have a supervisory committee. Allows adjunct faculty and research associates to serve on supervisory committees. Clarifies responsibilities of the committee.

1.6.5 Change in supervisory committee cannot be initiated by the Graduate Programme Committee.

1.7.2 The residence requirement for master's degrees is removed. Rules for coursework requirements in master's and doctoral programmes have been combined. Provision is made for a student to be credited for courses taken prior to admission to SFU.

1.8.1 The minimum CGPA for students in graduate diploma programmes is 2.5.

1.8.4 No more than three consecutive on-leave semesters will be allowed, unless approved by the Dean of Graduate Studies.

1.8.5 Clarification of current practice and a more logical position for the regulation (currently covered in 1.4.4, and a repetition of part of 1.4.3 in the new regulations).

1.9.2 Increased flexibility for organisation of thesis defence.

1.9.4 Increased flexibility for organisation of thesis defence.

1.9.5 Clarifies function of examiner's report for doctoral defences .

1.10.2 In section 2) "minor revisions" is replaced by "revisions" .

1.11.3 Clarifies the way in which confidential or patentable information in a thesis may be protected temporarily.

1.12.4 Minor change to readmission process.

1.16 This section has been rewritten to clarify the appeals processes.

Proposed Revisions to General Graduate Regulations

Regulations that will not change are printed in plain text.
Regulations for which changes are proposed are printed in parallel columns.

Academic Honesty

All members of the University community share the responsibility for the academic standards and reputation of the University. Academic honesty is a cornerstone of the development and acquisition of knowledge. Academic honesty is a condition of continued membership in the university community.

Academic dishonesty, like other forms of dishonesty, is misrepresentation with intent to deceive or without regard to the source or the accuracy of statements or findings. Academic dishonesty, in whatever form, is ultimately destructive of the values of the University; it is, furthermore, unfair and discouraging to the majority of students who pursue their studies honestly. Scholarly integrity is required of all members of the University.

The following examples are representative but not exhaustive of activities constituting academic dishonesty: plagiarism (presenting the work of another person as your own); submitting the same work more than once without prior approval; cheating; impersonation; submitting false records or information; stealing or destroying the work of another student; removing, mutilating, misplacing or destroying books or other library material; unauthorized or inappropriate use of computers, calculators and other forms of technology in course work, assignments or examinations.

The University code of academic honesty is contained in policy T10.02 or in the Course Timetable and Exam Schedule published every semester, or on the World Wide Web via www.reg.sfu.ca.

Penalties for Acts of Academic Dishonesty

Penalties imposed by the University for academic dishonesty may include one or more of the following: a warning, a verbal or written reprimand, reassessment of work, failure on a particular assignment, failure in a course, denial of admission or readmission, forfeiture of awards or financial assistance, suspension or expulsion from the University.

Student Conduct

Simon Fraser University is committed to creating a scholarly community characterized by civility, diversity, free inquiry, mutual respect and individual safety. The code of student conduct is intended to define students' basic responsibilities as members of the academic community, to define inappropriate student conduct and to provide procedures and penalties to be invoked and applied if they engage in such unacceptable behaviour. Each student is responsible for his/her conduct which affects the University community.

The code shall not be construed to unreasonably prohibit peaceful assemblies, demonstrations or free speech.

The following activities are representative but not exhaustive of behaviours constituting misconduct: disruptive or dangerous behaviour; behaviour which results in damage, destruction and theft of University property or the property of any member of the University; forgery or alteration of University documents or records; misuse of University resources including information (computing) resources; unauthorized entry or presence in University premises; misuse of student disciplinary procedures.

The University code of student conduct is contained in policy T10.01 available in the Library or any departmental office, or in the Course Timetable and Exam Schedule published every semester, or on the World Wide Web via www.reg.sfu.ca.

Penalties for Acts of Student Misconduct

Penalties imposed by the University for misconduct may include one or more of the following: a verbal or written reprimand, exclusion from specified areas of the University, restitution or other ameliorative measures, suspension

1.3 Admission

Current	Proposed
1.3.1 General A student may seek admission to a graduate diploma, master's or doctoral program. A student who is not qualified to enter a specific program may seek admission to the University as a qualifying student under the provisions of paragraph 1.3.6. Before applying for admission, the student should write to the chair of the graduate program committee in the appropriate department to enquire about special admission requirements for the program. Persons meeting the minimum University requirements for admission given below are not assured admission into any graduate program. Most graduate programs have admission requirements in addition to the minimum. Furthermore, programs must restrict admission to student enrolments and interests that are compatible with available resources and faculty expertise.	1.3.1 General A student may seek admission to a graduate diploma, master's or doctoral programme. 1.3.4.a Cohort Special Arrangements These highly structured cohort-based programs are designed to meet the educational needs of specific student groups in fulfilling the requirements for a master's degree, where these needs cannot be met within existing programs. Each program will integrate studies from across two or more disciplines and will involve a curriculum and requirements recommended by each program's academic steering committee and approved by the senate graduate studies committee. Students may undertake this degree program only through specific admission to the cohort program. The admission criteria, degree requirements and any other special conditions for an individual cohort special arrangements program must be approved in advance by the senate graduate studies committee; these may not be below the minimum admission and degree requirements of regular graduate programs. In some instances, tuition fees may differ from the regular graduate fee schedule published in the Calendar, and will be announced separately.	1.3.5 Admission Under Special Arrangements Exceptionally able applicants who wish to work for a master's or doctoral degree outside or between existing programmes at Simon Fraser University, may apply to work under special arrangements. A student applying for special arrangements must have a well-developed plan of studies in an area that can be shown to have internal coherence and academic merit, and in which the University has appropriate expertise and interests among its faculty members. Graduate students applying or working under special arrangements are required to conform to Senate regulations for graduate students. However, there are additional regulations which concern only those applying or working under special arrangements. 1.3.6 Admission as a Qualifying Student Normally, qualifying students will be working either to improve cumulative grade point averages in order to meet the minimum University requirement, or to make up deficiencies in their backgrounds to satisfy the graduate program committee in their area of interest. An applicant may be recommended for admission as a qualifying student when it is expected that the admission requirements for a master's or a doctoral program can be met through the satisfactory completion of no more than 30 credit hours of specified courses. A qualifying student who has completed the make-up work may then apply under 1.3.3 or 1.3.4 for admission to a master's or doctoral program. 1.3.7 Admission as a Special Student Normally, a special student at the graduate level is a person who has at least a bachelor's degree, or the equivalent, who wishes to take specified courses but is not seeking a degree from this University. A special student will not be permitted to enrol only in undergraduate courses. Transcripts of previous university work (or proof of obtaining a degree) will be required at the time of application, but letters of reference will not necessarily be required. Application may be through the graduate program committee in the department in which the student wishes to work. Permission is required from the instructor in each course. No credit will be given towards any degree offered by the University for courses taken as a special student except, under unusual circumstances, on petition to the senate graduate studies committee.	1.3.7 Admission as a Non-degree Student Normally, a non-degree student at the graduate level has at least a bachelor's degree, or the equivalent, is admitted in order to take specified courses, but is not seeking a degree from this University. Application is through the Graduate Programme Committee in the department in which the student wishes to work; applicants are advised to contact the department before submitting an application (see 1.3.1). In that case, the student is admitted conditionally upon fulfilling certain specified requirements.	1.3.8 Conditional Admission Conditional admission may be offered to an applicant who is substantially ready to undertake a programme but who has not completed all admission requirements at the time of application. An offer of conditional admission will specify the remaining requirements to be met and a limited time period within which the requirements must be met. Normally, the requirements must be fulfilled either prior to registering in the programme, or within the first semester of registration.

1.10.3 Recommendation for the Award of the Degree

When a student has successfully defended the thesis and made any minor revisions required, the supervisory committee shall recommend award of degree. This recommendation goes for approval respectively to the Graduate Program Committee, the Faculty Graduate Studies Committee, the Senate Graduate Studies Committee and Senate, which has the final authority to award the degree.

The title of the thesis, extended essays, professional paper and projects will be recorded on the student's transcript.

1.10.4 Submission of the Thesis to the Library

If the examining committee has required minor revisions to a thesis, these will be completed as soon as possible after the examination and checked by the senior supervisor. Two unbound copies of the final draft of the completed thesis shall be sent to the library together with a memorandum from the senior supervisor certifying that all required revisions have been made. These two copies will be bound, catalogued and retained by the library, one for the general collection and one for the University archives. graduate program committees may also require not more than two bound copies for departmental files and these should be submitted for binding at the same time.

When the library representative of the dean of graduate studies has checked the thesis and accepted the format, the representative will notify the registrar. No degree will be approved by senate until the registrar has been so notified.

1.10.5 Examination of Extended Essays submitted in Partial Fulfillment of Degree Requirements

Examination for an extended essay shall be as for the examination of a master's thesis. The extended essay of a successful candidate shall be deposited in the library in the same format as for a thesis.

For degrees designated 'professional degrees' by senate (presently executive MBA, day MBA, MEd, MPM, MRM, MEng, MPub) the project will be examined in ways designated by the appropriate faculty graduate studies committee and the dean of graduate studies.

Examination of projects for all other graduate programs shall be as for the examination of theses with the following exceptions: when the project is either live, taped or filmed, only one presentation is required for examination, and only one recording is required for deposition in the library. The one copy deposited in the library shall be the property of the University. The student shall have the right to copy the original, and the right to borrow it for external showing at the discretion of the librarian.
