TO:	Dr. Sean Zwagerman
DEPT:	Assoc. Dean, FASS
FROM:	Clint Burnham, Grad Chair
SUBJECT:	Closure of joint MA in French/English
DATE:	Sept. 13, 2018

Dear Dr. Zwagerman:

At our respective GSC meetings for the Department of English and the Department of French on Oct. 27, 2017 and June 23, 2017, we approved the termination of the joint MA in English and French. Attached, please find a joint application from the Departments of English and French for the termination of the joint MA.

Please put our proposal for the termination of the joint MA in English and French on the FASSGSC agenda for October 4, 2018.

Sincerely,

Clint Burnham
Professor and Graduate Chair in English

Proposal to Suspend Admission and to Terminate the English and French Literatures (joint) MA

1. All impacted credentials, levels and categories of the degree, and specific discipline or field of study

The Graduate Studies Committee of the Department of French proposes the termination of the English and French Literatures (joint) MA

2. Location of the program

SFU Burnaby

3. Faculty(ies), Department(s), or School(s) offering the program

The Department of French and the Department of English

4. Anticipated final dissolution date

Summer 2019

5. Reasons for termination of the program, such as:

- Insufficient financial resources
- Lack of enrollment demand
- Curricular issues

As best as we can determine, the degree was created in the 1990s with the goals of deepening the link created by the French and English departments through the joint undergraduate major, appealing to the interests of a bilingual population, and facilitating a comprehensive study of Canadian literature. However, the degree has attracted very few students. The Department of French's 2006 External Review Self-Study states:

"The Department of French also has a joint Master's in Literature with the English Department. However, as yet no students have been admitted into the program. The renewal of the research faculty in French Literature will hopefully help foster more opportunities of cooperation in that regard."

Records indicate that no students have completed, or even been enrolled, in the program since that time. Efforts to identify the last date at which a student completed the program have proved unsuccessful. The joint MA in English/French Literature is no longer advertised on either of the departments' websites and the last document conserved in the Department of French's archive pertaining to the program dates from 1995.

6. Plan for phasing-out of program, including

a) Steps taken to consult with students

There are currently no students in the program and there are no pending applications.

b) Steps taken to consult with impacted instructors and staff

No instructors or staff will be impacted by the termination of the program.

c) Steps taken to ensure students in the program have the opportunity to complete the program

There are currently no students in the program and there are no pending applications.

d) Description of the reallocation of any remaining program and associated resources when program is terminated

No resources will require reallocation as none are currently associated with the program.

e) Confirmation of consultation with other impacted departments and Faculties

- June 23, 2017 – proposal approved GSC French
- October 27, 2017 – proposal approved GSC English

f) Impacts on and/or reorganization of curriculum in cognate disciplines

No reorganization required.

g) Timeline of activities

May 30, 2017 – Email sent by Acting Chair of Graduate Studies in French, Joy Palacios, to Lisa Shapiro, Associate Dean, Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, to inquire about procedure for closing an MA program.

May 31, 2017 – Email sent by Acting Chair of Graduate Studies in French, Joy Palacios, to current Graduate Program Chair in English, Michelle Levy, requesting her feedback on the proposal to terminate the joint MA program, and her permission to proceed.

June 23, 2017 – Proposal submitted to and approved unanimously by the Graduate Studies Committee in French.

October 27, 2017 Proposal submitted to and approved unanimously by the Graduate Studies Committee in English.

March 6, 2018 – Email sent by the Chair of Graduate Studies in French, Cécile B. Vigouroux, to the current Graduate Program Chair in English, Michelle Levy, to agree on submitting the termination of the joint French/English MA program to the next FASSGS meeting on April 5, 2018.
