

SIMON FRASER UNIVERSITY
ENGAGING THE WORLD

SENATE SUMMARY MEETING OF JULY 5, 2021

1. Report of the Chair

The Chair acknowledged that SFU is privileged to be situated on the traditional territories of the səlilwətaʔl (Tsleil-Waututh), Skwxwú7mesh Úxwumixw (Squamish), kʷikʷəłəm (Kwkwetlem), and xʷməθkʷəyəm (Musqueam) nations.

The Chair reported that in light of the horrific discoveries of mass graves at former Indian residential schools across the country, SFU has lowered its flags to honor the lives and memories of children found in these mass graves and to stand in solidarity with indigenous communities to remember the tragic loss of innocent lives. Emails have been sent out with information on the supports available for Indigenous students, staff and faculty.

The Chair reported that as a University, SFU has been working toward reconciliation and while it is recognized that more work needs to be done, steps are being taken such as establishing a new Indigenous leadership position at the University. A working group has been struck, co-chaired by Chris Lewis, Squamish Councillor and spokesperson and SFU alumnus, and Catherine Dauvergne, SFU Provost. This group will provide advice on the position and the portfolio for this new leadership position. SFU is also working towards supporting the actions called for in Looking Forward...Indigenous Pathways To and Through Simon Fraser University. Further, SFU has been working on entering into memorandum of understandings with host nations and is working on an MOU with the Tsleil-Waututh Nation, and renewing an agreement with the Squamish Nation. The University is also examining ways to financially support Indigenous students more fully and a commitment has been to strike a working group to work to look at Indigenous naming of spaces and places across SFU campuses.

The Chair thanked all those who participated in the June Convocation ceremonies. Nine honorary degrees were conferred, with recipients ranging from world renowned climate and human rights activists and public health champions to an Emmy winning television and movie star from Burnaby. Eight virtual graduation ceremonies were held, with 5228 graduates receiving their degrees. Also, an honouring feast was held on June 24th for 144 Indigenous graduates and their families.

On the topic of returning to campus, the Chair reported that on June 10th a townhall was hosted for faculty and staff to answer questions and solicit feedback to help guide the safe return to campus. Also, on June 8th SFU launched an eight-week COVID-19 rapid testing screening pilot project on Burnaby campus.

The Chair, on behalf of Senate, welcomed SFU's new Registrar and Senate Secretary, Tom Nault. Tom is coming from Memorial University of Newfoundland, where he was the Registrar.
