ENGAGING THE WORLD

SENATE SUMMARY MEETING OF MARCH 7, 2022

1. Report of the Chair

The Chair reported that former Board of Governors Chair Chris Lewis will be joining the President's Office in a part-time advisory role as Director, Indigenous Initiatives and Reconciliation. Along with Catherine Dauvergne, he will continue to co-chair the Indigenous Leadership Listening and Implementation Task Force, which is developing the senior leadership role recommended in the SFU-ARC report and the subsequent Pathways Report. He will also guide and support a number of other activities that help SFU move toward reconciliation.

The Chair reported that SFU researchers joined more than 150 Indigenous organizations, universities and other partners for Ärramät, a six-year $24 million project funded by the federal government's New Frontiers Research Fund Transformations Program (NFRF-T) in Canada. This project will highlight the complex problems of biodiversity loss and its implications for health and well-being through an Indigenous lens.

The Chair reported that SFU researchers have participated in a $10.8 million project funded by Canada's Digital Technology Supercluster, which aims to bring digital technologies and automation to help farmers be more efficient, increase their output, lower their costs, and have a positive impact on the environment.

The Chair reported that the President's Faculty Lectures continued on March 2nd with a talk by Dr. Kanna Hayashi on Harm Reduction in an Unprecedented Overdose Crisis. The final lecture in the series for the academic year will happen on March 22nd with a talk by Dr. June Francis on Becoming an Anti-Racist, Decolonized University: What Does It Mean and What Will It Take?

The Chair reported that SFU is ready to launch SFU: What's Next?, which will start with a series of community conversations in mid-March, to consider such questions as:

- How does SFU take the lessons learned from COVID-19 and use them to shape processes, protocols and activities moving forward?
- How does SFU define itself as a community?
- What ideas and priorities are most meaningful to the SFU community, and what should SFU commit to as an institution?
