Calendar Entry Change for Business Administration Doctor of Philosophy

Summary of change:
Change in Admission Requirements Change in Program and Course Requirements
Rationale for change:
Change in Admission Requirements Rationale: To increase the competitiveness of the program and prepare students for high quality research achievements. Change in Program & Course Requirements Rationale: Beedie is undertaking changes to the PhD program to remove the reliance on external training for its doctoral students (e.g. WDA and other SFU faculties). The new course requirements will provide rigorous training and therefore opportunities for students to undertake state-of-the-art research within SFU.
Effective term and year: Fall 2023
Will this change impact current students? No. If yes, what is the plan for current students? N/A

Other Information

Course Work

Graduate elective course work must be approved by the supervisor to create a curriculum which will be flexible within certain limits. Those who have already done graduate study in business, or a related field may request to be exempt or to substitute some of the course work in consultation with the director of the PhD program. Students who lack a business degree may, at the discretion of the PhD Program Director, be asked to complete up to four additional graduate courses beyond the program requirements.

Comprehensive Examination

Students will choose two areas in which they will take their comprehensive examinations. The reading list for the comprehensive exam will be a subset of the reading assignments in the Beedie School of Business graduate courses, special topics, as well as approved graduate courses in other programs or universities. Students prepare two thematically organized bibliography/reading lists. They should reflect the significant works in the areas in which the student is to be examined. They should also provide a foundation for research in these areas. The lists must be submitted to the PhD program administration and the student's supervisory committee for approval.

Research Seminar Courses

Students in their second through fourth years of studies are required to enrol in research seminar course each year. Students will contribute to the seminar series by inviting guest speakers and presenting their own work.

BUS 970 Quantitative Methods and Analysis (4)
BUS 971 Qualitative Methods and Analysis (4)

and three theory courses chosen from:

BUS 891 - Theory of Financial Markets (3)
BUS 967 – Asset Pricing (4)

MEMORANDUM

ATTENTION Associate Dean Sean Zwagerman, Chair of FASSGSC

FROM Dr. Gary McCarron, Graduate Program Chair, Graduate Liberal Studies

RE: GLS calendar change

DATE September 20 , 2022

CC GLS Program Assistant

Dear Dean Zwagerman:

At its meeting of June 20, 2022, the Graduate Liberal Studies Steering Committee approved the following curricular program changes:

1. Program requirement change (effective Fall 2023):

Change:

Course Work Option

and an additional 5 units of graduate course work in Liberal Studies and a graduating seminar,
LS 898 – Liberal Studies Graduating Seminar (5)

To:

Course Work Option

and an additional 10 units of graduate course work in Liberal Studies

~~and a graduating seminar,~~

~~LS 898 – Liberal Studies Graduating Seminar (5)~~

Attached are the relevant forms for the above proposed changes. Please place these proposals on the agenda for the next FASS Graduate Studies Curriculum Committee meeting.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Gary McCarron
Graduate Program Chair
Graduate Liberal Studies

Program requirement change for Graduate Liberal Studies MA

Summary of change: Change to program language regarding completing MA in Graduate Liberal Studies via Course Work Option.
Rationale for change: In some years we have too few students to constitute a Graduating Seminar for students wanting to graduate through the Course Work Option. Hence, we have requested GPS waive the requirement that one of the courses students following this option take must be LS 898: Graduating Seminar [5]. Removing this restriction will mean that our students will still complete the necessary number of credits and and that we will no longer have to approach GPS with regular requests for waivers.
Effective term and year: Fall 2023
Will this change impact current students? If yes, what is the plan for current students? No, this will have no impact on current students in the program.

Calendar Entry Change for Master of Arts in History

Summary of change:
Introduction of a course intensive option for the MA in History and an accelerated MA
Rationale for change:
The changes will meet the needs of a more diverse group of students and will give students a more flexible, and time-efficient path to the completion of a graduate degree. They will allow the department of History to attract a bigger cohort of students by allowing the department to consider applications for fields where work on an original thesis is very difficult due to requirements of language, difficulties in archival work and so on without unduly straining the capacity of the department, and will also help to reduce the average time to graduation of the Department's graduate students. The option will be of particular benefit to foreign students, who already constitute the bulk of History's applications.
Effective term and year: Fall 2023
Will this change impact current students? If yes, what is the plan for current students? No

If a thesis will exceed the word limit, the graduate chair must give formal approval prior to scheduling the defence.~~

Language Requirements

Supervisors will determine with their students whether reading ability in a language or languages other than English are necessary for the completion of the MA. Supervisors will submit their recommendation in writing to the GPC for approval by the end of the first semester. Reading ability will be evaluated by a time-limited examination consisting of the translation of a passage in the particular language with the aid of a dictionary, or the successful completion of a language training course approved by the supervisor. A student who fails the time-limited examination may retake the test at the discretion of the supervisor. Supervisors will be responsible for determining whether the student has met the language requirements and for so informing the GPC.
