Background

Following a recent meeting with Michelle Corbet, Associate Director, Admissions, along with the support from Mike Peragine, Director, Admissions, I would like to request an update to the post-secondary admission requirements for the Faculty of Science, effective, Fall 2025.

There are two major issues with the current post secondary admission requirements. First is that requesting two transferable science courses in different subject areas creates a barrier to those students wanting to transfer to SFU Science in Math, Stats, Actuarial Sciences, and Data Science. Some post-secondary students, specifically international students, do not take courses outside of their subject area, such as Math. We are not only deterring applicants from applying, but if they do, then they are forced to delay their graduation due to the need to complete extra course(s) to internally transfer from one SFU Faculty to Science.
