

SIMON FRASER UNIVERSITY
ENGAGING THE WORLD

SENATE SUMMARY MEETING OF NOVEMBER 3, 2025

1. Report of the Chair

The Chair reported that SFU has again been named the top comprehensive university in Canada according to Maclean's magazine. This marks the 16th time SFU has earned this title in the past 17 years.

The Chair reported that she, in her role as President, was in Ottawa last week to attend Universities Canada's annual membership meeting. At the meeting members were presented with some new polling data that—for the first time in years—showed an upturn in Canadians who feel positively about universities. The data also showed that we are living in an age of precarity, with people living in an ongoing state of uncertainty and anxiety. Given this, universities have an opportunity to offer a message of reassurance and hope—through research, teaching, learning and work, and to act as a stabilizing force for communities and for the country. The Chair added that at this meeting she was officially installed as chair of the Universities Canada Board. As a B.C. university, SFU has struggled to get traction in Ottawa in the past, and it's hoped that this appointment will help give SFU a lift in terms of visibility and influence on the east coast.

The Chair reported that Premier David Eby visited the Surrey campus last month to share news about where the new location of the medical school facility is going to be and opening admissions to the medical school. Though much work remains, thanks was extended to Senator Price and the medical school team for their work up to this point.

The Chair reported that she, in her role as President, along with an SFU delegation, travelled to Victoria for the annual caucus receptions. Meetings were held with both the NDP and Opposition caucuses to share the latest from SFU. Senator Price also joined to speak to the School of Medicine. It was noted that building up goodwill and demonstrating to the government that SFU can be a good partner for them is going to be helpful in the long term, especially given the continuing need to have conversations about ensuring a sustainably-funded post-secondary sector.

The Chair reported that after receiving approval from Senate, the 2025-2030 Academic Plan was formally released and shared with students, faculty and staff last month. This plan was the result of many months of hard work by faculty and staff across the university and thanks was given to those who contributed to the process. The Academic Plan outlines SFU's ongoing commitment to the academic mission and creating an exceptional educational experience for students, while also reflecting strategic direction and priorities as outlined in What's Next and research priorities as outlined in the Strategic Research Plan.

The Chair highlighted the following upcoming engagement opportunities:

- November 6: SFU Strategic Research Plan Town Hall - SFU is now at the midway point of the 2023-2028 Strategic Research Plan, and will take this as an opportunity to share the progress made so far and to hear from community members and look ahead from now through to 2028.

- November 20: Budget Info Session - Faculty and staff are invited to join SFU leadership for a virtual info session that will provide insights into the university's 2026-27 budget planning process. This session will help faculty and staff better understand and engage with budgetary discussions in their departments and units.
