FIELD SCHOOL DEPOSIT REFUND POLICY

DEPOSIT
All field school applications must be accompanied by a $250 deposit (the “Deposit”) paid to International Services for Students by the program’s specified application deadline. The deposit will only be refunded for the following circumstances:

1) If a student is not accepted into the field school.
2) If a student cancels their application or submits an incomplete application by the application deadline.
3) If a student is accepted into the field school and declines the offer. Students accepted into the field school will have a period of 4 business days from the date of acceptance to decline the offer and receive a refund of the Deposit. After this 4 business day period the Deposit will be non-refundable.

Generally, eligible students will receive the refund within 30 days of the application deadline.

Students who withdraw after the 4 business day period following the date of acceptance forfeit the Deposit.

I confirm that I have read and understood this Field School Deposit Refund Policy and accept its terms.

________________________________________________________________________
Print Name

________________________________________________________________________
SFU Student Number

________________________________________________________________________
Student Signature

________________________________________________________________________
Date