

CALL FOR PAPERS

APRIL 5TH & 6TH 2019

Disrupting Disciplines:
Finding Connection in the Disconnection
Hosted by the UBCO Interdisciplinary Graduate Students

Interdisciplinary
Graduate Conference
University of British Columbia Okanagan

Disrupting Disciplines: Finding Connection in the Disconnection

The Interdisciplinary Graduate Studies Pro-Seminar at UBCO is now accepting abstracts for its annual Interdisciplinary Studies Conference, taking place at The University of British Columbia Okanagan Campus on Friday and Saturday April 5th and 6th, 2019. This conference, themed Disrupting Disciplines: Finding Connection in the Disconnection, will bring together a diverse group of graduate students and faculty to stimulate discussion and collaboration focused on the intersections of multiple disciplinary worldviews.

Potential Topics Include:

Research Methodologies
Community, Communication and Identity
Topics in Gender
Place, Belonging and Migration
Indigenous Research
Topics in Abilities

ALL DISCIPLINES WELCOME

Final Sessions TBD

For more information:
ubcoigsconference.wordpress.com

Please direct any questions or concerns to:
bec.campbell@ubc.ca

Submit By February 20th 2019

Send to:
ericafae@mail.ubc.ca

Submission Requirements:

- Abstracts should be 200-250 words
- Abstracts should be submitted in English, or with appropriate translation
- Include author name, contact information, the applicant's institutional/organizational affiliation, and three to five key words
- Applicants must notify organizers immediately if there is changes to the abstract, or if it is being drawn from consideration

Various presentation styles welcome. More information to follow if accepted.

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA