

UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH ASSISTANT POSITION: PROF. DENG

Prof. Minjie Deng is looking for an undergraduate research assistant for work related to government debt, default risk, fiscal policy, and household welfare. The work will include, among other things, conducting literature reviews, collecting/analyzing/displaying data, and solving macroeconomic models.

ELIGIBILITY

The RAship will be supported in part by the Undergraduate Student Research Award (USRA). Please read the criteria carefully to ensure you meet all of the eligible requirements before applying.

DURATION

Part-time from May 2022 to September 2022 (16 weeks). Working remotely is allowed.

QUALIFICATIONS

Knowledge in economics. Interest in macroeconomics. Strong analytical skills. Strong academic writing skills. Experience with statistical software (such as Stata) and programming skills is preferred but not required. Students in any year are encouraged to apply, especially those who may be interested in pursuing a graduate degree.

RATE

$15.20/hour; 17.5 hrs/week (part-time) for approx. $4,256.

APPLICATION DEADLINE

Friday, February 18th, 2022, 5pm PST

To apply, please send a copy of your unofficial transcript along with a brief (one or two paragraphs) cover letter to Carina Thanabadeepathara at econ\_research@sfu.ca with the subject title Deng: USRA Application. Thank you to all who apply--only short-listed applicants will be contacted.