

UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH ASSISTANT POSITION: PROF. FREEMAN

Prof. David Freeman is looking for an undergraduate research assistant with experience to assist in programming and conducting economic experiments over the internet. This work is part of a research agenda to advance our understanding of economic decision-making.

ELIGIBILITY

The RAship will be supported in part by the Undergraduate Student Research Award (USRA). Please read the criteria carefully to ensure you meet all of the eligible requirements before applying.

DURATION

Full-time (preferred)/Part-time from May 2024 to April 2025. Please indicate in your application which semesters you are able to work (you don't need to be able to work all of them).

QUALIFICATIONS

A successful applicant will either (i) have demonstrated web programming experience (e.g. a computing science student; Python, Django, Javascript) or (ii) have substantial interest in economics experiments and a willingness and ability to develop the needed expertise in web programming before starting. Students in any year are encouraged to apply, especially those who may be interested in pursuing a graduate degree. Only applicants with GPA of 3.6 and higher will be considered.

RATE

$16.75/hour at 17.5 hrs/week (part-time); OR, 35 hrs/week (full-time)

APPLICATION DEADLINE

Friday, February 8th, 2024, 5pm PST

To apply, please send a copy of your unofficial transcript along with a brief (one or two paragraphs) cover letter to Anna Zofka at econ_research@sfu.ca with the subject title Freeman: USRA Application. Thank you to all who apply -only short-listed applicants will be contacted.
