

Bridging Climate Change and Healthcare:

*Opportunities for Intergenerational
Justice and Supporting Youth and Children's Mental Health*

Are you a health provider or allied health professional working with youth/children in rural or remote regions of British Columbia?

We are inviting you to join our virtual interviews to share your experiences and perceptions about how the healthcare field can support youth and children's mental health through the climate crisis.

To become a participant, or for more information please contact Adrienne Barcket: adrienne_barcket@sfu.ca

If you have any questions, please contact Dr. Maya Gislason: maya_gislason@sfu.ca

