About the West Coast Hellenic Center Handbook

Our aim with this handbook is to assist incoming university students in exploring the rich world of Hellenic Studies. It serves as a comprehensive guide to Hellenic Studies classes, esteemed faculty, diverse programs, educational scholarships, and exciting community events offered by institutions throughout the west coast. By linking Hellenic Studies programs across the region, this handbook fosters a sense of community and inclusivity, providing valuable insights into neighboring areas and facilitating the dissemination of knowledge and opportunities. We are committed to promoting a vibrant community that embraces diversity and celebrates the beauty of Hellenic culture.

Greek Language and Culture Courses

Each semester, the Caloyeras Center opens Modern Greek language courses to the general public through LMU Extension.

Summer opportunities/study travel opportunities

Modern Greek Studies invites all LMU students to join the Odyssey Program. Spend 4 weeks in Greece, studying and exploring the land and culture that is the cornerstone of Western civilization and the nest of contemporary European and global developments.

The Odyssey Program begins in Athens where students visit the Acropolis, museums of ancient and modern art, attend performances, and walk around the city in order to experience the modern life of one of the most vibrant European capitals. The program then takes residence on the Aegean island of Spetses, famous for its revolutionary war history, distinctive architecture, stately historic mansions, and beautiful beaches.

The Odyssey trip concludes with a week-long cultural tour around Greece where students visit sites of cultural and historical significance such as Olympia, Sparta, Delphi, Epidavros, Corinth, Nemea, Nafplio, Mistras, Monemvasia, and Meteora.

Greek Language and Culture Courses

The SNF Centre for Hellenic Studies supports the Department of World Languages and Literatures in offering four levels of Modern Greek language instruction for university credit. Courses are normally offered in the Fall and Spring semesters and are open to students from all SFU faculties. The University also offers the Ellinomatheia or Certificate of Attainment in Greek.

Summer opportunities/study travel opportunities

Every year, the Department of Global Humanities runs two field schools in Europe—one in the Czech Republic (Prague) and one in Greece (Athens, Lesvos, and Thessaloniki).

Internships and Work Opportunities

The Stavros Niarchos Foundation offers a limited number of internships to qualified candidates interested in exploring the world of philanthropy and not-for-profit organizations. Interns gain insight into the operations of a philanthropic organization and get hands-on experience with the work of different grantees working in the areas of arts and culture; social welfare; education; and health and medicine.
