

Conference Digest

Vol. 2 No. 5 | Sunday, January 20, 2008

Hello all.

Along with a belated new year's greeting, this very brief digest/update is mainly to let everyone know that the convening work is now gearing up into overdrive for the Madness, Citizenship and Social Justice conference (Vancouver, June 12th-15th) and that, with the clock ticking down to the February 15th submissions deadline, the programming and other preparations are progressing apace.

A more substantive digest will be circulating within the next week or two to announce the unveiling of the on-line pre-registration page, and to pass along a number of specifics on local arrangements, accommodation options for visitors, and some exciting new developments in collaborative cultural programming that we will be integrating into the conference schedule. Stay tuned.

In the meantime, if you haven't yet had an opportunity to submit a proposal(s), and are planning to do so, please do recall that (as above) the deadline is commencing to loom large.

And, as always, any and all efforts to spread the word, and to recruit participants and delegates, will be much appreciated.

More news shortly.

With thanks, and best wishes,

Bob
